Ambassador Bush: 'Moment of Infamy'

U.N. Votes Peking, Expels Taiwan

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—A tension-packed United Nations vote with dramatic suddenness Monday night to admit Communist China and expel the Nationalist Chinese. It was a diplomatic slap in the face to the United States, which had fought for 21 years to prevent the move.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush sat dejected as the overwhelming 76 to 35 vote, with 17 abstentions, was flashed on the electric tally board in the General Assembly Hall. He called it a "moment of infamy."

Related stories on United Nations . . . see page 3.

When the final vote was announced, the normally staid body erupted into the closest thing to pandemonium it has seen since Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in 1960 pounded on his desk with a shoe to put across a point.

Delegates leaped to their feet applauding and cheering. The Tanzanian ambassador, dressed in a black tunic neatly buttoned to the throat, did a victory dance in front of the rostrum. U.N. Secretary General Thant immediately sent a cablegram to Peking informing the Chinese government it officially was a member of the world body. There was no immediate reaction from China, whose population is estimated at 730 million, but speculation in the United Nations was that Huang Hua, a topflight diplomat assigned to Ottawa by the Peking government earlier this year, might come from Canada to take over the China seat.

The decision was foreshadowed an hour earlier when the General Assembly defeated, 59 to 55 with 15 abstentions, the U.S. resolution requiring a two-thirds vote to expel the Nationalists. It was a last-ditch American effort to save a seat for 14 million Nationalist Chinese governed by Chiang Kai-shek, while admitting there would be no stopping the Communist Chinese from becoming a U.N. member.

When that failed, there was a stampede to the Communist side and the final 76-35 vote. Bush told a news conference "I hope the U.N. will not relive this moment of infamy. It's not a good thing to kick somebody out. My heavens, anybody with a heart in his chest who saw those decent people thrown out of the U.N. couldn't help but be affected."

He said he did not believe the outcome would affect President Nixon's planned visit to Peking, or that presidential advisor Henry Kissinger's visit to the Chinese capital had any effect in the outcome.

Some U.S. Benefits Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The expulsion of the Nationalist Chinese from the United Nations is a major defeat for the Nixon administration, but the United States might obtain some benefits in the long run.

As a point of fact, the 76-35 vote Monday night throwing the Taiwan government out of the world organization will not affect relations with the Nationalist regime.

The United States has a defense treaty with Taiwan as well as other diplomatic and commercial commitments. These will be maintained, according to U.S. officials.

These officials also point out the United States still recognizes the Chiang Kai-shek government, and will continue to do so, while there are still no official U.S. relations with the Communist regime on the mainland.

And while the U.N. defeat is harsh medicine for a world power to swallow, some diplomatic sources say the final result may be a healthier world climate.

They explain the absence of the Nationalists from the U.N. may make it a bit easier for President Nixon in his effort to improve U.S. relations with Peking, even though his administration fought hard against Taiwan's expulsion.

"It's on less obstacle the mainland government can bring up when Nixon goes to Peking," one official of an Asian nation said. The vote also makes it likelier Peking will accept the U.N. seat, a goal Nixon sought by sponsoring a resolution calling for membership for the mainland government.

Even the tough U.S. fight to avoid expulsion won't be held against Nixon too much, another diplomat said, pointing to the mainland trip taken by presidential advisor Henry Kissinger while the membership debate was going on.

The administration still has problems, some of which may be intensified by the U.N. vote.

One will be convincing Taiwan it means what it says in reaffirming previous commitments.

Another will be handling a budding congressional move to cut back the large American financial contribution for the United Nations.

A bill to that effect is being prepared by New York's Republican Conservative Sen. James Buckley. And, while the administration was ambivalent about such a threat earlier this month, officials recently have said they would oppose such a reduction.

One diplomat at the U.N. summed up the situation when he said at the outset of the debate, "Expulsion of the Nationalists will give America a black eye, but all black eyes eventually go away."

Many in Congress Line Up To Oppose Financial Cuts

(Combined Wire Services)

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fight to slash America's money to the United Nations for expelling Taiwan was shaping in the Senate today with more advance votes lined up against it than for it.

Sen. James L. Buckley, Con.-R.N.Y., announced immediately after the 75-35 U.N. expulsion vote Monday night that he is drafting legislation for a "major reduction" of the U.S. financial contribution.

An effort to tack the fund cut onto the foreign aid bill before the Senate in the next two weeks is a possibility, his office said.

"This will do no more than reflect a major downgrading of the U.N.'s role in the eyes of most Americans," Buckley said in a statement issued in New York.

Buckley and 20 other senators issued a declaration last month that the United States should "reassess its financial and moral support of the United Nations" if Taiwan was ousted, but 32 senators issued a letter Monday denouncing a fund cut.

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., charging America was handed the defeat after paying 35 per cent of the United Nations' support, joined Buckley's drive.

Senate and House Republican leaders Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Gerald R. Ford of Michigan issued a statement over the weekend saying the United Nations could not expect the degree of its present U.S. support if it expelled Taiwan.

But the 32 senators repudiating Buckley's cut included Republican National Chairman Robert Dole of Kansas and all four major potential Democratic presidential contenders—Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, George S. McGovern of South Dakota and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Three-fourths of the House, 336 members, joined 67 senators in urging that Taiwan be kept in the United Nations but only 33 House members joined the 21 senators in suggesting U.S. money be cut if Chiang Kai-shek's government was expelled.

Congress has already appropriated America's $107 million for the United Nations and related programs this year but a small amount of U.N. program money is in the foreign aid appropriation still in subcommittee.

It is the House-passed $3.2 billion authorization for this appropriation that is now before the Senate.

Meanwhile, in Geneva, Communist Chinese officials today reiterated demands for a world summit conference on arms control separate from the smaller Geneva disarmament negotiations.

The officials, at the Chinese consulate in Geneva, indicated that Peking has little immediate interest in the disarmament conference here following its admission to the United Nations.

Asked whether China would now consider joining the negotiations, the officials said: "We have no instructions or information from our government about the Geneva conference. As we stated two months ago we desire a world conference at the summit level to discuss the disarmament question."

Veterans Day—A Dedication

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — Ulster County dedicated its permanent veterans memorial site at city hall on Monday, Veterans Day, the first Veterans Day to be celebrated nationally, as a Monday holiday.

Flags were run up two brand-new 38-foot aluminum flag poles for the first time: one American flag that had once flown over the Capitol in Washington, the other a New York State flag. A memorial plaque was dedicated by Mayor Francis R. Koenig on behalf of the Kingston Veterans Association in memory of all deceased veterans in Ulster County.

The weather kept the crowd down to about 100 persons, most of them veterans and their families, along with a host of public officials and candidates for office.

Lt. Col. Joseph J. Louder, a veteran of 22 years in the Marine Corps, was the guest speaker and opened his remarks by commenting on the size of the turnout. "I wish to thank you for this opportunity to participate in today's ceremony," Col. Louder began. "However, like so many other times on these occasions, we are talking to the choir, for those we really want to reach are not there today. You who are here know what it's all about. Many of you have served or you understand what it means to be a veteran."

The American flag was presented by John J. Naccarato, congressional aide to Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., on behalf of the congressman who was unable to attend. The state flag was presented by State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. (R-Dutchess-Ulster) who also read a statement on behalf of Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature.

Joseph Sills Jr., chairman and William Hanley, co-chairman of the Kingston Veterans Association fund raising committee for a permanent memorial at city hall, were both cited by Army Reserve Major Bronislaw Hudela, who served as moderator for the program.

Sills noted that the committee had raised about $5,000 of its $10,000 goal and thanked all those who had contributed while at the same time asking for donations so that the committee could reach its goal.

Four men who walked a 100 miles for the committee were presented with citations and appropriate plaques by the Veterans Association. The four armed forces recruiters in cludes Staff Sgt. Donald Misner of the Marines, Petty Officer First Class Kenneth Thorpe of the Navy, Staff Sgt. Michael Bordick of the Air Force and Staff Sgt. Frank Frazier, army advisor to the National Guard Unit. The four men carried out their march on Sept. 20-Oct. 1, of slavery. Today, to survive

Kingston Police Department is a dedicated people. A people aware of the value and cost of freedom. A people who offer strength and unity, not dissent on and strife. Our veterans and to the testimony of the fact that we have never lacked for such people.

"It is through us gathered here today that the memory of veterans of all wars must be perpetuated. It will be through dedications such as this that an appreciation for the cost of maintaining our freedom will be passed on to future generations. Today, there are those that seek to diminish their sacrifice.

Their cries, I feel, are out of touch with reality. There is no substitute for readiness. There is no substitute for honor. There is no substitute for men dedicated to their country."

Today, Col. Louder continued, "we are still engaged in a long and bitter conflict. And like all wars which Americans have fought, this is a war testing the freedom of men to choose their own destiny. And as in all past struggles, we have never had any intention of conquest, only the hope for the triumph of the natural order of freedom. But unlike past conflicts, in this war our enemies have been more skillful with words than with firepower. This country, the very cradle of modern freedom and reason, has been accused—even from within—of imperialism, oppression and flagrant abuse of power."

"It is a paradox of our times that of all wars fought by Americans, the Vietnam conflict has been by far the most unselfish. No American gain was intended. No American gain has been made. "Now the job is almost done. Our veterans are coming home. Not to the celebrations of VE Day or VJ Day as so many of you still remember. Not a parade down Mainstreet, USA but (to) what is so often the case, a return to public apathy. Often closely examined for an accounting of his actions in combat. Accused by some of being unreliable or by others as to a high return of drug addiction. The frustrations of our time have been taken out on the veteran," Louder said.

$100,000 Found In Local Car

TOWN OF ULSTER — A 43-year-old Kingston man was apprehended on the State Thruway here at 4:45 a.m. today by State Police for driving a car with a bald tire, and subsequent investigation disclosed a cardboard box on the front seat that contained $100,000 of old, partially devalued currency.

Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lismann said Michael Francis Cahill of 157 Bruyn Avenue, Kingston, also was charged with possessing a switchblade knife. He was arraigned before Town Justice Arthur R. Reilly and held in $2,500 bail pending investigation by state and federal authorities who theorize the money might be proceeds of a bank robbery or some other crime.

UNVEILING OF VETERANS' PLAQUE—Joseph Sills Jr. (l) and Mayor Francis R. Koenig unveil the Veterans' Memorial Plaque at Veterans Day ceremonies at City Hall, Monday. The plaque contains an inscription honoring the county's deceased veterans and also includes the names of all the government officials of Kingston who gave their unanimous approval for the donation of the land in front of city hall for a permanent veterans' memorial. New Paltz Town Board Meeting...Several Discussions

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ People in New Paltz who thought the New Paltz Village Board had forever laid the specter of a hamburger drive-in on Main Street to rest when they instituted condemnation proceedings on the Ungerland property were a bit premature according to Village Attorney Do. inick Porto's report at Monday night's board meeting.

Porto said the condemnation law gave the property owner full use of his property until condemnation proceedings had second that section of Main done to safeguard it, and Porto been decided. The proceedings

On a motion by Trustee John Logan, Porto was directed to do whatever he could. Logan said to try, "even if our chances are only one in 100." Said Sherwig, "There is more to saving New Paltz than sanctifying Huguenot Street."

Logan asked about the Brill property, some of which the village needs for the Fulton Street extension. Porto said the owners wanted the board to direct the village planning board to let them build 176 apartments and the village could have the land. Sherwig asked how soon condemnation proceedings could be started, and Porto agreed that appeared to be the next step. John Shulte, speaking from the floor, said the proposed 160-unit apartment complex behind Simmons Plaza could strain the village sewer system, and speed up the run off into Tributary 13 and cause some flooding. Logan said the sewage treatment plant was forced close to capacity during flood times by surface water getting into the sanitary sewer system as it was.

The board decided to send a letter to the town planning board asking them to consider these problems, and to have an examination of the sewer system conducted to see what can be done there. Logan reported that the sewage treatment plant was "a good many months" from being completed because the state was requiring that the lab be placed out on separate bid rather than be done by change order. He also said only one of the new mechanical seals required by the state had arrived, which was probably just as well because the one that arrived had disintegrated leaving the state bids were forthcoming, that the meeting seemed had no methane burners, an important pipe had broken, and of October, and the village there had been complaints of bad odor, which he felt were completely justified. He said he would look into the bad odors reported on the joint town-village meeting on the correct them. "Other than Emergency Communications Center, a jointly run enterprise, the sewage treatment plant is and said the village share for the coming year would be about Village Clerk Wilbur C. $22,465, about $1,375 higher than this year's. He also felt compelled to remark, apparently in car out on bids after Logan first consideration of the strained

He asked that any teacher who wishes, be issued a key. Board President Hans Boehm answered, saying that Faltsey should not feel embarrassed about the situation. The implication that teachers are not trusted is wrong," said Boehm. "The more keys you have, the less control you might be important to him have."

He added that he was not prejudging the request, but that the Board must decide whether the need is sufficient. Boehm said that no decision could be reached Monday night, as there

The Expulsion—Pressures on Sato

(By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS) Nationalist China's expulsion from the United Nations gave new impetus today to demands that the native Taiwanese be given a voice in Chiang Kai-shek's regime.

The defeat of the U.S. attempt to save the Nationalists and at the same time invite Peking into the world organization also put new pressures on the Japanese government of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, which joined in sponsoring the unsuccessful U.S. resolutions.

Peking was silent on the U.N. action. A Foreign Ministry official, reached by telephone from Tokyo, said his government didn't give out "information over international telephone calls."

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, reported that the General Assembly had adopted "the resolution restoring the legitimate rights of the People's Republic of China in the United Nations," but the vote came too late for editorial comment in Moscow morning newspapers.

Havana Radio said the assembly action was "the worst diplomatic defeat for the United States in the history of the United Nations."

The only official comment from the Nationalist government on Taiwan was a six-page statement made to newsmen in New York by Foreign Minister Chow Shu-kai. He said the Republic of China had been denied its rightful place in the United Nations and the U.N. Charter had been violated.

Other Foreign Ministry officials in Taipei expressed shock and disappointment; they had hoped the expulsion would be postponed until next year.

U.N. recognition of Peking's control of the mainland was a blow to the Nationalist regime's contention that it represents all China, and to its position that national elections cannot be held in Taiwan because it can't also hold them on the mainland.

Just before the U.N. vote, a union of students of Nationalist University called on the government to carry out needed political renovations, and several Taiwan magazines have been urging a "Bigger place for the Taiwanese majority in Chiang's government," which is run by refugees from the mainland.

The U.N. vote gave fresh fuel to critics of Sato, including members of his own party, who contend he has followed the U.S. lead too closely. Political commentators in Tokyo said the vote was a serious blow to Japan's prestige, and opposition political parties said they might propose a vote of no confidence in parliament against Foreign Minister Takeo Fukuda.

Nationalists Are Shocked

TAIPEI (AP) — Top Nationalist Chinese officials went into conference Tuesday moments after their delegation walked out of the United Nations and the U.N. General Assembly expelled the Taiwan regime from the world organization.

"We are all terribly shocked," one Foreign Ministry official said. "We certainly did not expect this."

"I think we're all disappointed in the United Nations," another official said. "But we can get along without it, I think."

The government had no immediate comment.

Chinatowns—Some Disappointment

(By United Press International) The news that the United Nations voted to admit Mainland China and expelling Taiwan was met with general disappointment but little shock Monday in the United States' two best known Chinatowns—New York and San Francisco.

"The United States government should stop supporting the U.N.," said Leong Ching, owner of the Chinatown Seaford Restaurant in New York. "To think that country (Taiwan) has been our ally all these years. Every Chinese American should get out and voice their opinion. This thing stinks."

Arthur Lee, 48, a curio shop manager in San Francisco, said he was upset over the expulsion of Formosa because "after all, Nationalist China was one of the charter members" of the United Nations.

"I think it's stupid to take them out," he said. "Every nation—that is every legal nation—should have a seat."

Many of the residents questioned in New York's and San Francisco's Chinatowns expressed no opinion or were unwilling to answer.

"Some still have families on the mainland," one New York resident said. "Besides, there are factions on both sides here. Most people say they don't know or have no opinion because they don't want to be involved."

Although most who talked about the vote were disappointed

ed about the ousting of Nationalist China, there were some who favored the move.

"They're doing the right thing," Paul Lum, 45, owner of the Rickshaw Gift Shop in San Francisco, said, pointing out there are 730 million people on the mainland.

"When you want to talk peace, you talk to the right guy," he said.

Mrs. L. Wong, 36, a San Francisco housewife, however, was bitter.

"I feel awful," she said. Mrs. Wong said she visited Taiwan a month ago and "people are really friendly there. It's a crime for them not to have a seat."

'No Newspaper Today'

NEW YORK (UPI)—A delivery man carrying morning newspapers was turned away today when he stopped at the building housing the Nationalist Chinese mission to the United Nations.

A janitor unlocked the front door of the building and said, "Not today."

A police guard standing nearby said members of the mission had returned to their Manhattan residences and told him before they left. "We don't want to be disturbed anymore." The newspaper delivery incident occurred several hours after the U. N. General Assembly voted to unseat Nationalist China in favor of mainland China.

British Troops, Snipers Exchange Border Fire

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British troops exchanged gunfire today with Irish Republican Army (IRA) snipers across the border of Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic, an army spokesman reported. The troops have been blowing troops in Belfast and Londonderry but no casualties were reported. An army spokesman said British troops had come under sniper fire more than 60 times since Friday, more than in any previous four-day period since the internment measure went into effect on Aug. 9.

No Indian Comment On Pakistani Response

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The Indian government withheld comment today on reports Pakistan president Agha Yahya Khan has responded favorably to offers from U.N. Secretary General Thant to intercede in the border dispute between the two countries.

An Indian official said a similar offer made by Thant Oct. 21 to the Indian government was under consideration and that a suitable reply would be sent soon.

The official Radio Pakistan said Monday that Yahya Khan had asked Thant to visit both India and Pakistan in a message sent Thursday in response to Thant's offer the same day to help reduce the tension which has arisen because of a military buildup by both countries along the borders.

In his message, Yahya Khan suggested that "withdrawals of manpower along with armor and artillery take place all along the Indo-Pakistan frontiers, both in East and West Pakistan," Radio Pakistan said.

"We have no reaction to the Pakistan president's proposal," the Indian spokesman said. "It was for the secretary general to respond."

Since the buildup Oct. 17 there have been several incidents of shelling reported by both sides. No shelling were reported at the eastern border areas Monday, but India's

Soviet Proposal Still Subject of Talks in Paris

PARIS (AP) — The Soviet proposal for a European security conference appeared to be the major topic of discussion today as Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev and President Georges Pompidou continue their talks in Paris.

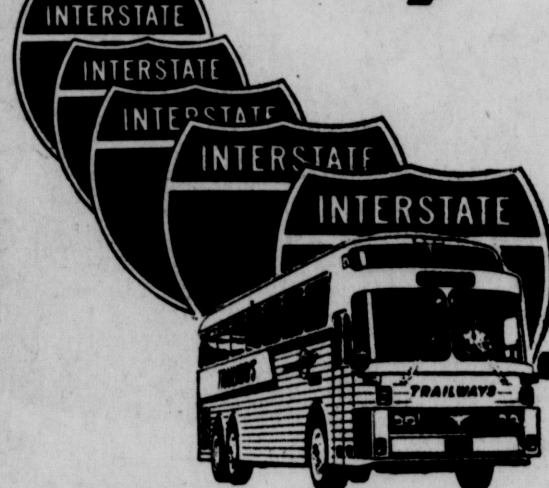

Both men emphasized the conference proposal in speeches Monday night, the first evening of Brezhnev's official visit to Paris. Pompidou broke new ground for France in calling for a start to firm preparations for the conference "as soon as possible."

Pompidou reminded Brezhnev that France's attachment to the West and its alliances "are an integral part of its policies." But he said in a dinner toast: "We think there is no obstacle to the opening in Helsinki, as soon as possible, of the multilateral phase of preparations for the conference."

He said this has been made possible by West Germany's border treaties with the Soviet Union and Poland, the conclusion of a Big Four agreement on Berlin, and the start of talks between the two Germanies to implement the Berlin pact.

Brezhnev noted that the Russians first proposed the conference five years ago. With an increasing number of countries favoring such talks, he said, the organization of the meeting is now the prime question.

Woman Injured In Area Mishap

TOWN OF ULSTER
While operating his convertible vehicle in the EZ Shop parking lot on Lucas Avenue Extension, this township, at 10:45 p.m. Monday, Douglas A. Sloan, 20, of 860 Fairmont Avenue, escaped injury when his foot slipped off the accelerator as the car jumped a curb and struck the front of the store.
A passenger, Melinda Marshall, 21, of the same address, received contusions of the left ear, according to a report of Deputy Sheriff Frank Calman. She was treated at Kingston Hospital and released.
The sheriff's office reported the front window of the shop was smashed.

GOP Assails City Insurance

KINGSTON
The Democratic administration came under fire today from its Republican challengers on the subject of insurance. "The Koenig Administration likes to spend money as if it's going out of style," charged Robert F. Murphy, the Republican Conservative candidate for mayor and his running mate, Bernard Singer, candidate for alderman-at-large.
Murphy and Singer directed their statements at Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo, both seeking reelection on the Democrat-Liberal ticket.
The Republican pair charged today that "the City of Kingston in 1966 spent $50,000 for insurance coverage, but this year (1971) the big spenders Koenig and Gallo spent $120,000 for insurance coverage. That's one big increase even in these inflationary days." Continued Murphy and Singer, "perhaps

Koenig Charges 'Misleading'

KINGSTON
Labeling his opponent's recent news release "misleading," Democratic Mayor Francis R. Koenig said today that "it is apparent, that in this last week of the campaign, my opponent, rather than offer constructive plans and programs will attempt to mislead the public as he did on Oct. 25."
"One important fact stands out above all other," Koenig said. "Our tax rate in the City of Kingston for 1971 is lower now than it was 10 years ago. As a matter of fact, in the Daily Freeman article of Oct. 25 the Republican candidate for Mayor concedes that our tax rate is indeed lower now than it was 10 years ago. There is nothing the Republican candidate can do or say that could change that unalterable fact," Mayor Koenig stated.
"This, despite the fact that general government expenses have increased, just as the cost of living, the price you pay for a quart of milk and a loaf of bread have increased, and everything else you buy has increased."
"A few items to clarify some of the increases in city government are: Social Security increased from $54,000 in 1965 to $140,000 in 1971. During the last Republican administration there wasn't a single penny that had to go for hospitalization payments. In 1971, we provided hospitalization benefits for city employees to the extent of $115,000. I am proud our city is able to pay for this truly important, necessary, health benefit for city employees.

In 1965 under a Republican administration, not a penny was provided in that Republican budget for uncollected taxes. The result was that the necessary funds for all of these essential city services had to be borrowed. This increased the city indebtedness, and all of the money had to be repaid and all the accrued interest had to be paid also, to the detriment of the city taxpayers. In 1971, the Koenig-Gallo team provided for a total of $334,000 to cover all those items.
This meant that the city did not have to borrow such funds (as was done by the Republican administration in 1965) and we save taxpayers large sums of interest.
"We are proud of our record in this regard, because we saved the city taxpayers approximately $30,000 in interest payments because of reduced borrowing over the past six years. And at the same time, and most important, we reduced the bonded debt of the City of Kingston. Actually, since 1965, Democratic administrations have reduced the bonded debt of the city by one million thirty thousand dollars ($1,030,000). We are also proud of this accomplishment."

OUR EATING HABITS ARE DIFFERENT

One of the things that has become clearer in the past few years is that we Americans are eating in new ways with more "convenience" foods, more meals away from home and more snack foods.

Despite all of the availability of products and ways and places to eat - malnutrition (meaning over or under nutrition) seems to be on the increase.

In December 1969, I participated in the White House Conference on Food, Nutrition, and Health. This conference focused attention on the fact that no age group and no income group in our country was eating enough of the right foods to get the nutrients needed for good health.

Several developments came out of this attention and awareness. First, in the time since the conference grocery manufacturers have re-evaluated and are continuing to re-evaluate their products in terms of their nutritional contribution. This has resulted in many new products, as well as improved old products.

Here are just a few:

- Breakfast drinks with added nutrients
- Enriched bakery products
- Instant potatoes fortified with Vitamin C
- Soy protein (excellent protein value at low cost) added to one dish meals
- Dry milk fortified with Vitamins A & D

Be sure to read labels and see which product has these nutritional pluses.

Another development has been stepped up activity in the government to establish nutritional guidelines for minimum nutritional levels in some products, as well as beginning steps toward nutritional labeling. Nutritional labeling is a difficult procedure since we consumers many times do not read or use presently available label information. So, it is difficult for companies and government to know what kind of nutritional label information you and I will read, understand, and use as a buying guide.

Government and the food industry are concerned about improving the nutritional status of all of us and are doing something about it. You will continue to see new information and new products in our stores. Be sure to read and use all label information for wise nutrition buying.

If you have any comments or questions, please feel free to write to me.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 26, 1971

Jack Anderson Says The President Won't Barnstorm

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has decided to shun the traditional political barnstorming next year and to campaign for re-election by actively attending to the nation's affairs.

He will make appearances around the country and speak to the nation on the television networks. But he intends to soft-pedal the political rhetoric, maintain the dignity of his office and go about his presidential duties.

Those who know Richard Nixon suspect he may have difficulty restraining himself when the campaign heats up.

But it is now his intention to avoid the rock 'em, sock 'em politics of past Nixon campaigns.

Of course, he will overlook no opportunity to drive home the idea that he is a peace-and-prosperity President. But he hopes to dramatize this more by presidential activity than political campaigning. Before the 1972 election, he expects to end the American combat role in Vietnam, to improve relations with both

Peking and Moscow and to get the economy booming again. All the while, Nixon will keep the voters constantly aware of the peace-and-prosperity theme by making dramatic new moves and announcements that will occupy the headlines. He will reserve his TV appearances, however, for the more momentous announcements. If the gods before the cameras too often, he fears, the public might get tired of his face.

The President was barnstorming in California on the eve of the 1970 election. He left the voters with the impression of a shrill, partisan President. This is a mistake he doesn't intend to repeat in 1972. The only campaign trail he will take next year will be the high road.

FOOTNOTE: The President will vote in California. Estimates say he is eager to win the state, not only because it has the most electors but because he seeks vindication over being rejected for governor in 1962. These are reasons he is bringing the Republican convention to California. But heavy aerospace industry, which has caused recession in some sections of the state, could give him trouble.

UN and Drugs
A still-secret congressional report lays much of the blame for the burgeoning international narcotics trade squarely in the lap of the United Nations.

The report, prepared for the House Foreign Affairs Committee, is based upon an 11-nation narcotics investigation conducted last spring by Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y. It appears to be one of the most comprehensive documents ever put together about the international narcotics crisis.

"If the United States and the other victim countries are ever to be successful in heroin addiction within their own shores," Halpern writes in the report, "they must move beyond unilateral and bilateral controls: there is no way that just one or two countries on their own can handle the problem."

The obvious solution would be for the United Nations to step in and coordinate a worldwide effort to squelch the illegal dope trade. The basic bureaucratic structures, rules and regulations already exist. It is just a matter of putting some teeth in them.

The UN, however, has reneged on its responsibilities. Says Halpern: "World organizations, and the United Nations in particular, have failed in their responsibilities to meet the ever mounting crisis in international narcotics trade."

The UN's International Narcotics Control Board "should be taking the lead in calling for new or amended treaty agreements," Halpern continues, "but it has not done so. It simply is not keeping pace with developments on the international drug scene, and has been prone to maintain a 'live and let live' policy, rather than offend any member nation."

"The painful but obvious conclusion we can draw..." says Halpern, "is that United Nations effectiveness in narcotic traffic and control is virtually negligible."

The greatest problem the UN faces, Halpern reports, "is the reluctance of member nations to yield their jurisdiction in legislative and administrative fields to international bodies..."

Long Wait
Way back on June 30, 1969, Sgt. James V. King of McClellan Air Force Base, Calif., submitted a formal suggestion that airmen working around radiation hazards such as radar and other microwave equipment be given special cautionary indoctrination.

King pointed to studies showing that overexposure causes "permanent and incurable" damage such as cataracts. The Air Force notified King: "You will be informed when action is taken."

For more than two years, King waited. "Finally," on Sept. 24, 1971, the Air Force told him his idea had been tentatively approved, adding: "You will be kept informed of the progress made."

Meanwhile, as the Air Force dawdles, hundreds of airmen are being exposed to microwaves.

Acheson's Advice

The day after the death of Dean Acheson, a piece he had written on Russia's aims in the Middle East appeared in The New York Times. President Nixon had announced his plan to visit Moscow the day of Acheson's death, so the two were not related. Yet Acheson's article constituted a posthumous warning to the President.

Quoting from the testimony of Senate witnesses Bernard Lewis, an authority on the Middle East, and Robert Conquest, an authority on the Soviet Union, Acheson emphasized that the overriding reality all over the world, including the Middle East, is "the confrontation of two systems and civilizations—perhaps about to become three. All else is secondary and subordinate."

Mr. Nixon was pointedly told that the object of policy in the Middle East is to find the most effective means of opposing the adversary. Acheson called the present Soviet leadership "a group of rather bigoted fundamentalists with a disturbingly low level of intelligence—in general a third rate group . . . and since their judgment is not of the highest order, I would expect them to create situations of the utmost danger to the world peace."

What makes the Russian leaders so great a danger to world peace, Acheson wrote, is that "third rate judgment is activated by highly aggressive purpose and armed by a military establishment second to none." He warned that our adversary "will be dissuaded only by encountering unacceptable risks, as in Cuba in 1962."

The Soviet Union is pursuing two goals in the Middle East: to continue Arab dependence by maintaining a state of tension approaching, but not reaching, outright war; and to reopen the Suez Canal.

Acheson's advice is to see that the Soviet reduces its involvement in the Middle East with the same firmness that brought about Soviet withdrawal from Northern Persia in 1946, from the Berlin blockade in 1949 and from Cuba in 1962. We should be willing, he said, to keep both super powers out of the area or both involved in unacceptable war.

There Is Concern

School teachers in slum areas, where they run the risk of physical abuse from overage or rebellious children in classrooms, will receive hazard pay, as authorized by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. This action was taken despite the fact that school authorities have told the department that there is an oversupply of teachers and that there is no trouble in filling school positions in underprivileged areas. HEW officials no doubt reasoned that "tomorrow" there may not be an oversupply, and a better choice of teachers could be obtained this way.

The beautiful part of this $1.5 billion largesse, is that it also is to be used for Special Services in reading and mathematics for 1600 districts with heavy enrollments of poor and minority children. Special instruction in reading and math for the underprivileged student is one of the biggest keys to successful integration, to reducing the number of dropouts, delinquents, and welfare cases, among the underprivileged. It gives these children, a big boost up the ladder and in many places it also permits art, music, and drama instruction and enriches the lives of pupils from dreary slum surroundings.

Some way should be found to tell all those in the districts benefited that their country is doing these specific things, so they can't be sold a bill of goods by propagandists who discourage them by saying we don't care and don't do anything.

gle carrier rocket. No one knows whether they are missile carriers or spy sites or what. You don't need that many to watch the weather. We're the loser—if any—behind the eight-ball. Some sort of Space Commission should rule on such games.

On October 25, 1878, thirteen enterprising men incorporated an undertaking. They were risking $300,000 in an enterprise that had as its only asset the 31-year-old brain of Thomas A. Edison. They called it the Edison Electric Light Company.

Edison's formal education was limited to three months in the public school at Port Huron, Mich., to where the family moved from Milan, Ohio, but his brain was alive and humming.

The young Edison was searching for a filament that would glow brilliantly in a glass bulb, when electricity passed through the filament. It was a problem buried deep in the mysteries of electric incandescence.

Most problems of any kind obey the law of perspective: they look big close up. A cheap enough filament, for example. But Edison's theories were different. And he found the filament, not in some undiscovered or precious metal but in the cotton fields of the South.

One year less four days after the incorporation, Edison demonstrated the first practical incandescent lamp ever to glow in the world.

His miracle was acknowledged when an Edison bulb containing a loop of carbonized cotton thread burned brightly and continuously for more than 40 hours.

Of Edison's 1,097 patents, the largest number the U. S. Patent Office ever granted an individual, 360 dealt with electric generation or distribution and that little lamp that could take up the task where the sun left off.

The year 1889 saw Edison in Paris for the Universal Exhibition, which included the first formal exhibit of an automobile, a Benz. The new and amazing Eiffel Tower became a gigantic French flag made of 22,000 gas jets, each in its own blue, white or red glass globe. Edison's son once told me his father, so enthusiastically impressed, actually had to be restrained from doing acrobatic turns on the tower's top platform.

"Maybe he could foresee what was going to happen to the gas jets," his son said.

Edison's own triumph came at the 1900 Paris exposition Universelle, which featured the Palace of Electricity. It astounded the entire world and glowed with dazzling lights that proclaimed that a century of progress was assuredly ahead and that the future looked solid enough to have been Gibraltar advertising Prudential Life.

Edison was a kind man. His best friend was great American naturalist John Burroughs. Their times together were all golden with sunshine. And Edison, who lived to be 84, insisted throughout his life that he could not have succeeded in his life without help of other men, including the 13 incorporators who believed him and undertook to support and develop his work on that October 25, 1878.

This wholehearted recognition of aid from others was one element in Edison's greatness. In fact, he always emphasized that he owed even his life itself to the aid of another man.

When young Edison, known as "Al" Edison in Port Huron, was 15 he was a candy butcher and newsboy on the Grand Trunk Railroad running between Port Huron, Mt. Clemens and Detroit. Dropping his newspapers off at Mt. Clemens, he stood talking too long with the station agent. The boy ran to catch the departing train, missed the railing of a car's steps, stumbled, and found himself hanging across the coupling.

A trainman rushed to him, reached down and pulled the boy up by his head and ears, roughly but surely to safety. And that night Thomas A. Edison began to become deaf, always to remain so.

"But he saved my life," the deaf Edison kept repeating to the end of his days.

Great men are a small family on this earth, and he was one of them.

All sculptors have the same materials, but only Michelangelo could create his masterpieces. One thought in one man — Pasteur, or Edison, or Fermi, or Jefferson, perhaps — may be worth more to humanity than all the gold mines in the world.

The levellers are busy promoting the dangerous fallacy that people en masse is all that counts. Why encourage the individual? All over the world the flocks are running over the precipice behind this idea. Yet mere weight of numbers has never advanced us. The levellers notwithstanding, there is no substitute for the individual and never will be.

All Aboard!

Henry J. Taylor Says The Individual Counts

Ray Cromley Says

Economic Controls Will Be Stiff

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Don't be misled by talk of "voluntary" cooperation in President Nixon's Phase II on price and wage controls.

The program, as Nixon insiders see it, will be about as voluntary as the income tax.

The rules will be quite firm, not vague as erroneously implied in some news reports. But the application will be as complex and with as much give and take as the decisions in cases before courts of law or arbitration boards. The regulators begin with the dictate that the rate of inflation must be down to a rate of 2 or 3 per cent a year by the end of 1972.

By one body or another, this over-all standard will be translated into wage and price gain average limits. These in turn are expected to be calculated industry by industry according to that industrial effects on the economy, its rate of productivity increase, how far behind or ahead that industry is compared with the rest of business and industry in its past and currently proposed price and wage increases, and by that particular industry's need to attract capital, skilled labor and professionals in order that it flourish, hold steady or decline in the national interest. (National interest is here defined as business or other economic activity which creates new jobs, expands exports, aids in the search for critical materials, institutes cheaper, more efficient methods of production, or which aids other national objectives, such as defense or the fight on poverty.)

The formulae will be worked out for the relationships between wage and price increases. For obviously a company whose workers win approval of a major wage increase, or whose suppliers are granted price increases, is under the strongest sort of pressure to increase its own prices.

But behind all this there will be the mathematical calculations which limit wage and price increases over-all to those limits which will not push inflation above the 2 or 3 per cent a year rate — a goal to be achieved by the end of 1972, in time for the next presidential election.

These computer calculated maximums for wage and price increase averages set very precise upper limits.

These upper limits (or levels) in turn will directly affect each wage and price increase. Because if some increases are allowed above the average as calculated in this fashion, then other increases must be held below that average.

As for how the system will operate, major concerns and unions must submit projected price and wage boosts to the boards in advance for approval. The great middle ground of industry and labor must report all increases, but need not seek prior approval. The bulk of smaller firms will not report but will be subject to spot checks.

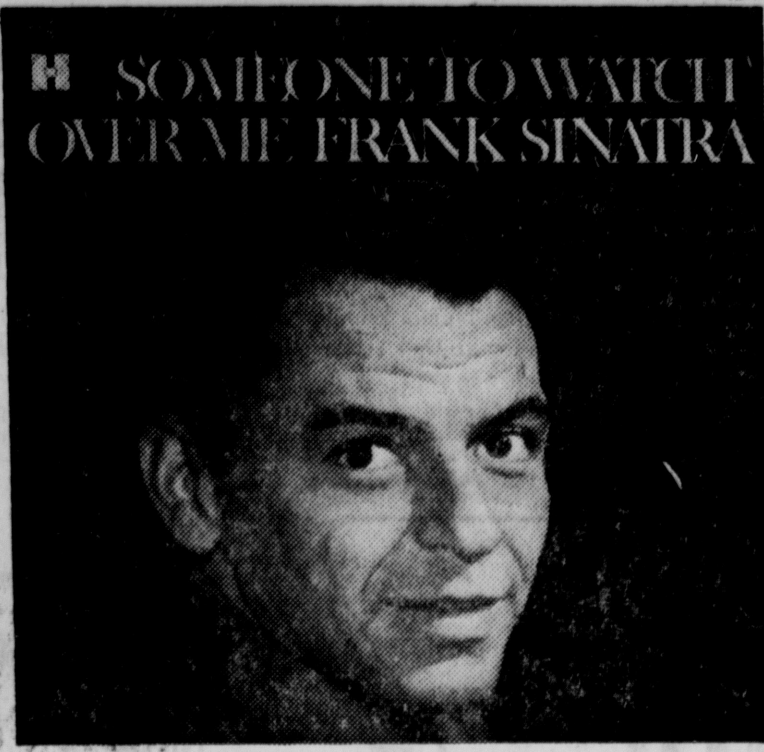

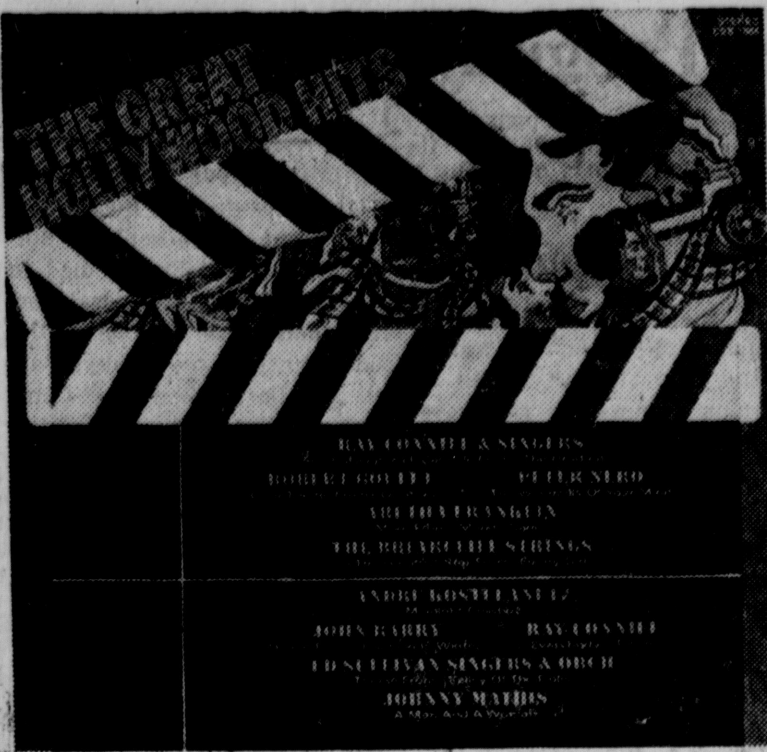

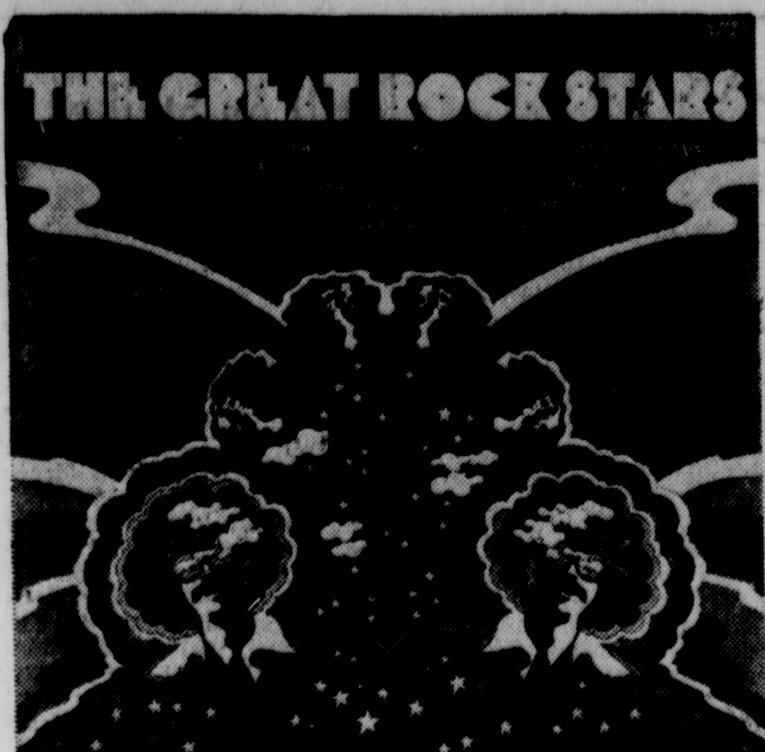

New this "voluntary compliance" accompanied by spot checks is a system familiar to every man and woman who fills out federal income tax forms. It works very well indeed at keeping us all in line, especially now that much of what we do is recorded and cross-checked by computer.

TODAY'S THOUGHT
By JIM GILPATRIC

A comic once said, "The trouble with political jokes is that sometimes they get elected." At various times in various places the joke has in fact held true. It is also a truism at times that the guy who works his gums the most before election is the same guy who gums up the works after he is elected. He is usually the person who is an expert in looking for trouble, finds it everywhere, diagnoses it wrong and applies wrong remedies.

You can say or think what you want — jokingly or seriously. The ballot box is STILL the essence of democracy. . . . It is STILL the best place to solve problems caused by conflicting minds and interests. . . . The ballot box is a place of decision. . . . YOUR decision about men or issues counts as much as anybody else's. . . .

There is a powerful reason — perhaps above all others — for you to vote. You have the responsibility and the right to decide who will spend YOUR money, and how it will be done. . . . Isn't that a rather good reason to vote? . . .

Feminine Touch At Kiwanis Kapers

KINGSTON The stage at the J. Watson Bailey School in Kingston will be the scene of the annual Kiwanis Kapers this Thursday, Friday and Saturday night, Oct. 28, 29 and 30. When the curtain rises at 8:15, Miss Terry Serravallo will have the lead in Jim Thompson's production of the Merry Widow or Love and Marriage in Seven Easy Lessons. This lovely young lass has appeared in Coach House Productions of "The Sound of Music," "Guys and Dolls," "Finian's Rainbow," and several others. In this year's wild Kapers production she portrays a spinster who's several ventures into the state of matrimony prove to be ill-fated.

Kiwanis Vice President Tony Bell has announced that dates for ticket exchange for reserved seats have been extended at Safford and Scudder on Wall Street each day this week through Thursday. General admission tickets may be obtained from Rafalowski's Mens Shop on Albany Avenue and Dwyer Brothers at 608 Broadway.

KUT Assures Rotary on Senior Buses

KINGSTON Jacob Nolfo, president of the Kingston Rotary Club, again extended his regrets that the Rotary Club's Free Senior Citizen Shopping Bus Service was once again disrupted last week.

After being notified that the buses did not run as scheduled, Nolfo said he contacted Michael Perry, general manager of the Kingston Urban Transit Company, who said that because it was necessary to transport high school students for special exams, it was impossible to use the buses normally assigned to the shopping bus service.

Nolfo further explained that Perry said that the Urban Transit Corporation had tried to pick up as many Senior Citizens as possible with the regular buses.

Perry apologized to the Rotary Club and to all the inconvenienced Senior Citizens and assured Nolfo that the special shopping buses will run as scheduled on Wednesday.

BCI Continues Investigation

TOWN OF ULSTER State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers from the Hurley Zone headquarters today continued investigation of weekend burglaries in the area that included the Lafayette Radio Electronics, 788 Albany Avenue Extension where $1,600 in cash was reported missing.

The establishment was entered by smashing a rear window and the money was taken from an unlocked safe, roopers said. Apparently nothing else was taken, according to a report of BCI Investigator David Wachtel.

Troopers also reported the Royal Diner on Route 28 was entered sometime over the weekend and an undetermined amount of cash was taken from vending machines that had been lifted.

A break-in at the Carpet Corner on Albany Avenue Extension netted nothing, according to investigators, who reported the store had been entered by breaking a window.

Narcotics Workshop Set

It is scheduled for Oct. 28 from 7:30-9:30 p.m. and the speaker will be Gene Warren, Associate Narcotic Education Representative of the Narcotic Addiction Control Commission. His subject, according to the Council chairman Rev. H. Henry Maertens, will be "The Psychology of the Drug Dependent Personality and Methods of Counseling With Them."

Saugerties Little Gardens Club Elects Officers

Mrs. John Whritenor was elected president of Saugerties Society of Little Gardens at the October 13 meeting held at the home of Mrs. George Sawutz. Serving with her will be Mrs. Gordon Keeley, first vice-president; Miss Jane Ziegler, second vice president; Mrs. Frank Greco, treasurer; Mrs. Roy Helmsmoortel, secretary; Mrs. Robert Finger, assistant secretary; Mrs. Brendan Dooley, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Daniel Lamb, librarian. Mrs. Earl Moore was chairman of the nominating committee.

Annual reports were given. The past year was a productive one with 20 different projects accomplished by the Club. Among these were an active civic beautification program with tree plantings, annual plantings, chrysanthemums, and fall bulb plantings at most of the school sites, including St. Mary's; floral arrangements made by Club members for the House Tour given by the Women's Club, for the Saugerties Public Library, and for all the local banks during the Mum Festival celebration. Another project included was the making and delivering of more than 150 dried arrangements by Club members for Thanksgiving for the Ulster County Infirmary. The Finger Home and other shut-ins.

With the confusion over the current price freeze, it is noted that there is no price freeze on garden plants, bulbs, seeds, as all are raw garden material, and as such not subjected to the freeze.

Accepted and welcomed as a new member of Saugerties Society of Little Gardens was Mrs. Robert Freer of Lamb Avenue, Saugerties.

Luncheon plans were finalized for Wednesday. The event will be held at the Lamplighter of New York (The former Cloverleaf), at 12:30 p.m.

Special hybridized iris were awarded to two members, Mrs. Frank Greco and Mrs. Brendan Dooley, and one non-member, John Mackewicz by the Federated Garden Club. These awards were given to those entries who received blue ribbons for named Iris in the Flower Show in June.

Hostess, Mrs. George Sawutz, and her committee: Mrs. John Whritenor, Miss Jane Ziegler and Mrs. Frank Greco, served refreshments.

Elizabeth Post Answers Etiquette Problems

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

DEAR MRS. POST: I am planning a birthday party for about 10 people. I would be very grateful if you would suggest some games that would be enjoyable for my teen-age guests.

SUSIE

DEAR SUSIE: Here are five games which are lots of fun:

Concentration: Place 20-25 everyday objects on a table.

Allow the guests two minutes to study them. Each guest then writes down all he can remember. Best "rememberer" wins a prize.

"Who am I?" Each guest has pinned to his back a card naming a famous person. Each in turn tries to guess who he is by "yes" or "no" questions. A prize goes to the one who guesses right in the least time or with the fewest questions.

"What is it?" Blindfold guests. Pass around small dishes and ask guests to identify contents by smell—or taste. It's surprising how few will guess right when they cannot see what they are smelling or eating.

"Twister." A game to be found in any game store or toy department. You stand on a board and make moves which get you into impossible and hilarious positions.

Treasure Hunt or Scavenger Hunt: Clever clues for a treasure hunt or unusual objects to be collected for the scavenger hunt make these popular for all ages.

DEAR MRS. POST: In recent years I have received various types of greeting cards to which the sender has added the date and a salutation. Is this correct? My impression has been that a greeting card was just that and not a substitute for a letter.

EILEEN

Dear Eileen: Adding the date and a salutation does not make a letter out of a card. It merely adds a personal touch and makes receiving the card much more of a pleasure.

DEAR MRS. POST: I am thirteen years of age and am to be in a wedding next month. I was wondering if I should be allowed to wear make-up, and if so, what kind? The gowns are pink.

WENDY

Dear Wendy: Yes, you should wear a little make-up to avoid looking ashen and nervous—which church lighting sometimes does. A touch of light lipstick, a little powder to take the shine off your nose, and a very subtle touch of color on your cheeks if you are pale will make you a prettier bridesmaid. At thirteen, you do not need eye make-up.

BARRY PERLMUTTER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Perlmutter of Vestal Hills Drive, Whittier Park, Kingston, celebrated his Bar Mitzvah on Saturday, Oct. 16 at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Perlmutter had a kiddish after the services on Saturday afternoon and a reception in the evening. (Artercraft Camera)

Flame Rekindled; No Marriage Spark

DEAR ABBY: Forty-two years ago, a man caught my eye and I caught his, but we both were married at the time so there was nothing we could do about it. I moved away but I never forgot Mac. And he never forgot me, and when he came to see me the other day I just about fell over dead!

My husband had died only three months before. Mac said he had kept track of me all these years, that his wife had died four years ago and he was just waiting for me to be free.

Here's the catch. Mac wants me to come live with him. No marriage. He has plenty of money and I could sure use an easy life because mine has been hard, but I am not going to live in sin with anybody no matter how much money he has.

Mac is 73 and has grown children and grandchildren. I am 69 and am in the same situation. He suggested we go away for a trial weekend, but sin is sin. How can I get him to offer marriage?

CHRISTIAN WOMAN

DEAR CHRISTIAN: You may not be able to. But don't hand out any free samples or you'll never sell the package.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a 15-year-old girl. I would like to ask her out but I'm afraid of what her parents might think because I am 25, and used to date her older sister. (I am also a good friend of her brother.) The older sister went away to college and I find the younger one extremely attractive and remarkably mature for her age.

I've been tempted to call this girl but have hesitated because I don't want to upset her parents by courting a daughter whom they might think is too young for me. I would appreciate your thinking.

IN LOVE BUT "TOO OLD"

DEAR "IN": "In love" with a girl you've never even dated? Wouldn't it be more appropriate to say you are "very much attracted" to her? I suspect you miss her older sister and think the younger girl would make a handy substitute, but I think you ought to find someone nearer your own vintage.

DEAR ABBY: A member of my husband's social club was invited to our home for dinner. Later in the evening he discovered a large snag in his suit coat, and expressed much concern over it, but could produce no evidence as to what he had caught it on. He did make a point of saying, "I didn't have it when I first got here."

This man insists that we are obligated to have it repaired or replace the coat since it happened in our house. Are we?

DEAR BEING: Call your insurance agent and ask him if you're covered for this type of accident. (If you aren't, and your signature reflects your feelings, ignore the fellow, and let him sue you for damages.)

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to AB-BY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

HVP Offers Artistic Performance

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

Lili Kraus, the Hungarian hypnotically dynamic pianist, gave a superb performance Monday night in a Mozart selection "Piano Concerto in A Major." Claude Montoux conducted the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra in the Kingston High School auditorium.

This is a return visit for the pianist. She was here two years ago and as then and now received a warm and enthusiastic welcome.

Listening and watching Lili Kraus was pure delight.

Her playing was effortless and so natural that it almost seemed the ultimate in simplicity. The guest artist conveyed sensitivity and refinement in her interpretation of the Mozart selection, one of the two wonderful works in this form written by Mozart in the year 1786.

Lili Kraus once played all 25 of the Mozart Piano Concerti in a New York City series. She has been hailed by critics and featured on TV and on records for her work. She was hailed equally as much in Kingston last night.

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic opened last night's program with a concert version of the overture to "Jenfa," one of Leos Janacek's most important operas. Janacek's works have a savage intensity and a barbaric strength. He evolved his own musical language based on Moravian peasant music. It added little to the program.

In addition to the guest pianist, Lili Kraus, the second jewel of the evening was the Philharmonic presentation of Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 6 (Pathétique).

In no other work did Tchaikovsky express the suffering or mental pain of his life more poignantly than in the first and fourth movements of this symphony. In Symphony No. 6 you can feel that strong personal note which rarely fails to appeal to sympathetic souls. Claude Montoux and the orchestra did it great justice. They are to be commended.

Edward Simons is concertmaster of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic with Linda Cumiskey as associate concertmaster. According to the program information, the Hudson Valley can boast an orchestra of more than 100 musicians. Claude Montoux is music director with Mr. Simmons, associate conductor.

The Philharmonic is currently working on its renewal subscription campaign and the committee urges all residents to get their tickets early. Ticket information is available from Mrs. Amos Newcombe, Kingston, Mrs. Richard Messina, Saugerties, and Mrs. Ned Buoymaster, Woodstock.

Roy L. Ickes is now serving Ulster County Council of HVPS as president. Other local offices are Mrs. Charles B. Slutsky, vice president; Mrs. C. Lincoln Christensen, recording secretary; Mrs. Thomas C. Horsey Jr., corresponding secretary; Richard North, treasurer.

One Note: "Dear City Fathers" — with all the digging and construction now going on in the City of Kingston, how come no tickets is ever given to a Cultural Center where orchestras, ballet companies, choral groups, art exhibits, could be properly housed. How much longer do we have to struggle with such things as miserable parking. Through no fault of HVPS, cars were backed from the high school parking lot into Broadway last night just waiting for some little slot into which they could slip. Certainly no great prelude to an evening of music and enjoyment.

Stein Team Leads Twaalfskill Event

KINGSTON — Al Stein, the newly-elected president of the Northeastern New York PGA, led his team to a three-stroke triumph in the Pro-Member-Guest Monday at The Twaalfskill Club but it was Old Man River, the host pro, who stole the spotlight.

Veteran Alex Gerlak toured his rain-soaked, home layout in one-over par 36-35-71 to lead the professional contingent. One shot off the pace came Jim Hutchins (Woodstock) with 36-36-72.

Stein, winner of the professional division of the 1971 Woodstock Open, played with two Twaalfskill amateurs—Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn and Form Coughlin, a former club champion. Their best-ball 60 gave them a three-

Vikings Defense Colts

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Two teams with mutual admiration, the Minnesota Vikings and the Baltimore Colts, spent the better part of Monday night's football game trading ball possession between the 30 yard lines.

But when the Vikings did get inside the Baltimore 30, which happened twice, they scored 10 points. And the Colts, who fared a bit better in field position, were stymied by three first half pass interceptions and two goal-line stands.

After the Vikings had emerged from a tense finish with a 10-3 win, Coach Bud Grant grinned and said, "I think they could play in our division."

Judging by the relaxed atmosphere in the locker room of the defending Super Bowl champion Colts, they had surmised the Vikings can play with anybody now, too.

"It was a well fought, good football game," Baltimore Coach Don McCafferty said. "Just a battle of two fine defenses. We're proud of our defense, and they have every right to be proud of theirs."

Someone asked McCafferty if the Colts would like to meet the Vikings again.

"I can't think about that," he replied. "We've got to look forward to next week."

If the teams did meet again, it would be in the Super Bowl—with Baltimore representing the American Conference, and Minnesota the champion of the National Conference.

And that's not out of the question, because the two teams lead the NFL in defense and are fighting for their division titles.

The two teams traded compliments just like they traded the ball 26 times with only three scores.

"They're the best defense we've faced by far," said Viking flanker Bob Grim, who entered the game with 22 receptions and didn't catch a pass. "Because of that double coverage they use, you get forced to the inside."

Baltimore quarterback John Unitas countered, "They play a zone defense the way it's supposed to be played. We had to look for the short passes."

Colt defensive end Bubber Smith added, "They just have one hell of a good front four. If they get ahead of you by more than one touchdown, like they did to us tonight, it's murder trying to catch them."

"They're a lot like us and they played the kind of ball we like to play."

Heart Defect Felled Hughes

By RICHARD L. SHOOK

DETROIT (UPI) The family of Chuck Hughes had a history of heart trouble, the Lions' team physician has disclosed, and the Detroit wide receiver had the heart of a man in his 40s.

An autopsy Monday disclosed Hughes, 28, had an undetected heart disease known medically as "arteriosclerosis," an abnormal thickening and hardening of the arterial walls.

A massive stoppage of the left coronary artery felled Hughes on the Chicago Bears 15-yard line with 62 seconds to go in Sunday's National Football League game. He was pronounced officially dead 50 minutes after the end of the game but both Lions' doctors feel he was, in effect, dead when he hit the turf.

"The Chuck Hughes family—both mother and father—died of what appears to be a heart disease," said Dr. Edwin R. Guise, who along with Dr. Richard A. Thompson comprise the Detroit team of physicians.

"Possibly two different kinds," Dr. Guise said. "And there's a question about one brother." Hughes was one of 13 children.

"His heart was not consistent with his age," Dr. Guise said. "His heart was an older heart. I prefer to say he was a man with a heart of the 40s—and I use that age because that is my age."

The two doctors jointly released the Wayne County medical examiner's report and were emphatic in dissociating the football game from the heart attack.

"It could have happened at any time," Dr. Thompson said. "It was something that was bound to happen. It could have happened yesterday, the day before or tomorrow."

"Arteriosclerosis heart disease has been coming on with no visible signs for some time," Dr. Guise said. "Playing football contributed in that it was a stressful situation. There is some evidence to indicate that stressful situations can induce a terminal event in patients with heart trouble."

Hughes had a "false negative test," Dr. Guise said, when he passed the electrocardiogram every NFL player takes before a new season starts. He was hit hard in a Sept. 4 exhibition game and was hospitalized twice after complaining of abdominal pains.

"I don't know," Dr. Guise replied when asked if the 180-pound receiver was given any tests for heart damage at that time. "We gave him so many tests that I think we must have, but I'd have to go back and look at the results to be certain."

A Tuesday Mass was scheduled at St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Detroit, after which the body was to be flown to San Antonio, Tex., for funeral services and burial.

A $10,000 trust fund was set up by an insurance company for the education of Hughes' 23-month-old son, Brandon Shane, released the Wayne County medical examiner's report and contributions be made to it in were emphatic in dissociating the football game from the heart attack.

POST MORTEM: Detroit Lions team physicians, Dr. Richard Thompson (L) and Dr. Edward Guise, disclose findings of an autopsy on Lions' Chuck Hughes, who died after collapsing on field with Chicago Bears Sunday. Cause of death was listed as arteriosclerosis—an acute thrombosis. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Clark Returns to Bullets

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Baltimore Bullets regained Archie Clark today, but still were uncertain about Earl Monroe's plans for returning to the club.

Clark, who came to the Bullets from Philadelphia in a trade for Fred Carter and Kevin Loughery, was suspended with Monroe last Friday for failing to show up for a game with New York.

Clark apologized to Bullet fans Monday night for going AWOL and promised them he would do what he could to bring them "an exciting season of NBA ball." He will be in uniform for tonight's game in Milwaukee against the champion Bucks.

Monroe is still missing from the Bullet lineup. The whirling dervish guard with the devastating jump shot has voiced his discontentment with the club and asked to be traded.

Clark said he had some personal problems and had to take time off to think things over before joining the ball club.

"I would like you fans to know I am a pro athlete first and that I will do all I can to perform in a way I know I can with the sincere hope of bringing another exciting NBA season to you," Clark said in his statement of apology.

Celtics Find Team They Can Overpower

Boston (UPI)—Atlanta coach Richie Guerin, who has to be ranked as a veteran observer, says the Boston Celtics aren't going to overpower anyone in the National Basketball Association this season. But they did a pretty good job on Guerin's Hawks.

The Celtics breezed to a 136-116 victory over slump-ridden Atlanta Monday and did most of the job without high scorer, Jo Jo White.

The Hawks, of course, are working without Pistol Pete Maravich who is down with a case of mononucleosis and not expected back in the near future.

There was nothing wrong with White who reached the Boston Garden court with 3:10 left in the third quarter and played the rest of the game.

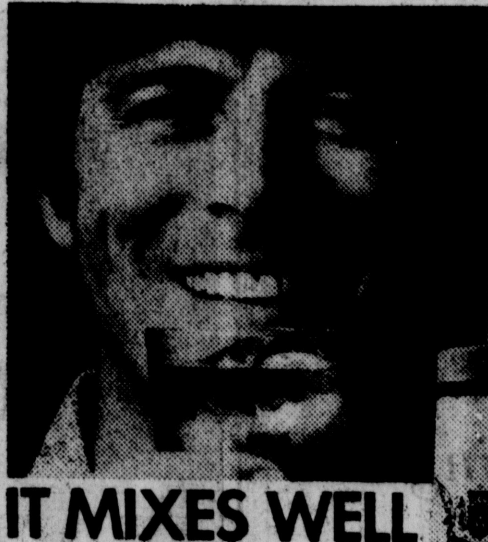

Jo Jo didn't sleep late as some of the Garden crowd insisted. Instead, he had been marching in a rainy Veteran's Day parade through the streets of Boston with the rest of his Marine Reserve unit.

But the Celtics, who were winning their fourth straight and moving to within one-half

He'll get a well deserved in 1967 and 1970 and now with at Laurel Monday over a deep rest for the next two months at Run The Gantlet. Paul Mellon and tiring race track that least, said trainer Elliott towns both horses, proved too exacting for his Burch who now has won the Run The Gantlet beat Irish Ball of France by six lengths in timed in 2:50 3/5, the slowest clocking in the 20 year history of the race. The losing riders had different views. Yves Saint Martin, who rode last place Quiludi and who won the International in 1962 with Match II, said he never had ridden over ground like it before. Duncan Keith, who finished third aboard Ortis, claimed the race would have been called off under similar conditions in England. The others said their mounts just couldn't handle the heavy track. Run the Gantlet's victory completed a very successful year for owner Mellon. His Mill Reef was the European champion of 1971 and in Run The Gantlet he probably has America's turf champion. Woodhouse had Run The Gantlet near the front all the time and said he could have wanted to lead any time he thought the track was so bad even Gantlet still had some reserve though Run The Gantlet was left at the finish.

"It wasn't rough going. He ran easily," the young jockey claimed. Burch said Run The Gantlet is as good as Fort Marcy was at this stage of his career and pointed out that Fort Marcy beat Horse of the Year Damascus when he won in 1967. He does not plan to run the horse again until February in Florida and will let the little colt take things easy for at least two months before he starts his training again. "And I am going to leave him on grass unless the weights get prohibitive," the trainer said. The foreign horses also will get a rest before they are returned to their homelands. They cannot be shipped out of the United States until Nov. 1 under quarantine restrictions necessitated by the outbreak of equine sleeping sickness earlier this year in the country. It will take them at least that long to recover from the ordeal of chasing Run The Gantlet in the International.

Rondon 'Onstage'

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Vicente Rondon stars tonight in "Act One" of the world light heavyweight boxing championship, crawling into the ring a juicy 8-to-1 favorite against old-timer Gomeo Brennan. Bob Foster moves onstage later this week. "We can settle this confused title," said Rondon's manager, Felix Zabala. "All the Foster people must do is guarantee at least $100,000 and we'll have ourselves a showdown." Foster handlers have offered $60,000. The light heavyweight picture became muddled in January when the World Boxing Association stripped Foster of the title, claiming the Tampa, Fla., fighter inadequately defended the crown. Rondon kayoed Jimmy Du Pree in Caracas Feb. 27 to capture the vacant WBA championship, but Foster remains recognized in areas not governed by the association. "This is no title fight," Foster said of the Rondon-Brennan match at Miami Beach Convention Hall. "I'm still the champion. Nobody takes the crown until they beat me ... in the ring." Foster risks his share of the glory Saturday night in Scranton, Pa., against schoolteacher Tommy Hicks in "Act Two" of the fistic drama. Rondon, 27-year-old son of a Venezuelan fruit picker, has a 34-1 record for his pro career. Since knocking out DuPree for the title, Rondon has defended successfully against Piero Del Papa and Eddie "Bossman" Jones. Brennan, 34, moved to the United States 20 years ago from his native Bimini where Gomeo learned to defend himself in "battle royals" against Bahamian pals. They battled blindfolded until only one was left standing. "All the Bahamas will be watching their first chance ever at a world championship," said the two-time British Empire middleweight king. Rondon predicted, "I'll knock him out by the eighth round." A crowd of 5,000 was anticipated at Miami Beach Convention Hall, paying a $20 top with Rondon to receive 40 percent of the gate and Brennan 20 percent.

about: UCCC's current scoring sensation, freshman Frank Goggia, who accounted for both goals and extended his scoring streak to four straight games. Goggia now shares the team scoring lead at seven goals with Frank Romano. Klaus Weber had six. "We're still not cashing on our scoring chances," Vizvary said, "but the team has settled down in a steady pattern and Goggia is one of the big reasons." The victory was the sixth in nine decisions for the Stobe Ridge bookers, who are eyeing an invitation to the Region XV championships. Garroner, Kingsborough's inside left, put the hosts ahead 1-0 at 8:43 after the opening kickoff, but Goggia, who came to Ulster from New York's Bryant High, scored the equalizer at 18 minutes with an assist from Juan Salas. Garroner's shot caromed off the side of the net and went in. Goggia's second goal and game clincher came in a penalty kick 10 minutes into the third period. After that the game resolved into a dogged defensive duel. "It rained, often quite hard, throughout most of the game," said Coach Vizvary. "And it had a definite effect on the play." Ulster had a wide margin of superiority in shots on goal with 30 against only 19 for Kingsborough. UCCC held a 3-2 edge in corner kicks, had no fouls to Kingsborough's one. Esposito Back in First

NEW YORK (UPI) — It took him two weeks to do it, but Phil Esposito is back in his accustomed position at the top of the National Hockey League scoring race. The Boston Bruin super star picked up eight points in three games last week to double his season total to 16 points, according to official league statistics released today. This places Esposito two points ahead of last week's leader, Rod Gilbert of the New York Rangers. And if anyone was wondering if Esposito could even come close to his record-busting figure of last season when he totaled 182 points, the Bruin center is one point ahead of that pace with his six goals and 11 assists. Defenseman Bobby Orr of Boston is third in scoring with 12 points and Frank Mahovlich of the Montreal Canadiens, off to the best start of his 14-year career with a league-high nine goals in seven games, is tied with Bobby Sheehan of California with 11 points each. Five players are tied with 10 points. The Chicago goaltending team of Tony Esposito and Gary Smith has the best goals against average of 1.55 while Brian Spencer of Toronto leads in penalty minutes with 37. The leading scorers:

Two Amendments for Voters in New York State

New York State voters will be asked to vote on two amendments one involving community development and the other — indebtedness for sewage facilities.

Amendment Number One concerning community development proposes an entirely new article for the State Constitution which would permit the Legislature to provide for a wide variety of community services and facilities when there is a public need which private enterprises cannot afford to meet on their own.

A key provision would permit state and local governments to give or lend money to private individuals, organizations and businesses for housing, urban renewal, job opportunities, health and environmental health facilities and programs for mass transportation, recreation and the care of the aged and children.

This ballot question would not authorize any state debt or local spending.

Up to now counties have been barred from capital projects for housing and urban renewal. The proposed amendment names counties for the first time among local governments that may undertake community development programs.

Those who support the article say that the present housing article is too restrictive to permit a comprehensive attack on community problems which face our state. New York needs 100,000 more units of housing each year than it builds, along with such related facilities such as sewers, roads, parks, schools and libraries. Deteriorating housing, including single family units must be restored to prevent the spread of slum conditions.

They claim neither government or private enterprise can handle these problems alone. The proposal would allow the state and local governments to enlist the creative talents of business, labor, civic groups etc. Adequate financial safeguards are retained in the proposal since voter approval for state spending would still be required and constitutional debt limits would restrict local spending. Supporters say that counties have responsibilities for planning for regional growth and need the power to build housing and related facilities. A law passed this year bars counties from overriding local zoning. The powers of the state's Urban Development Corporation are not affected by the proposal. Those opposed say that the proposals. State and local governments would be authorized to make loans and grant subsidies out of the government revenues for a broader range of purposes than is now permitted.

Opponents claim that government debt is already too large. This Amendment would increase the borrowing power of local governments by allowing them to compute their housing debt limit on the basis of full property valuation which is higher than the assessed valuation used now. There would be no assurance that the additional funds would be used for community development purposes.

They claim that taxes are already too high and that the proposal would invite government participation and investment in enormous new projects.

The second amendment permits local governments to finance sewers, pumping stations, treatment plants etc., outside the limits set by the constitution on the amounts they may borrow. Therefore they have more borrowing for other municipal purposes.

Those who support the measure say that the exclusion of sewage treatment facility costs from local debt limits is necessary and must be continued.

Many localities have been ordered to begin construction program by the Department of Environmental Conservation and others have adopted voluntary schedules for complying with state standards for sewage treatment; the complexity and high cost of such projects however, has kept them from being ready for contract within the original ten year period. In addition, some localities are eligible for more federal aid that the state can pre-finance and have been holding back on construction programs because the federal government has been slow to authorize and appropriate adequate funds for this purpose.

Those opposed are against any increase in borrowing by local governments. They believe that local property taxes are already too high and that the tremendous costs of sewage treatment facilities should be paid in other ways, such as sewer rents, others fear that local governments may not be able to meet the high cost of these facilities if federal and state funds are cut off.

Conservatives Oppose GOPs In Shawangunk Election

So far in the strange election year in the Town of Shawangunk, the Republicans had to have two caucuses, the Democrats have no nominees for town office, and the Conservative party is providing the opposition to the Republicans.

The Republicans had to have two caucuses because the first one they held was declared void after the voting machines used were found to have been improperly set up.

Shawangunk Republican Committee Vice Chairman John Scott voided the caucus. Three of the nominees, Francis V. Garrison, Fred E. Earl, and Philip Wenz, were unhappy, and sued to have the caucus voided. The suit failed, and another caucus had to be held. Garrison, Earl, and Wenz, joined by another voided nominee, Clarence J. Decker, took out an ad which said they won once, and with help would win again. They did.

When the dust had finally cleared, Garrison was the nominee for supervisor, Earl Wenz the nominee for four years assessor, Decker the nominee for superintendent of highways, Elizabeth Hammesfahr for Clerk, Adrian V. Decker for two year assessor, and E. Lester Mack for councilman.

Both Deckers, Earl, Mack, and one for town justice, holding her job for over 10 years, and Mack his for 14 years.

Bond Issue Proposition On the Ballot

KINGSTON
Proposition I on the Nov. 2 ballot, the subject of much pre-election controversy is the transportation bond issue.

Approval by the voters would mean authorizing an increase of $2.5 billion in state debt, $1.35 billion to finance new or improved mass transportation facilities and $1.15 billion for highways throughout New York State.

Under present plans the mass transportation funds would be used for self propelled rail car service between upstate cities, a rapid transit system for the Niagara Frontier District, buses for many upstate communities, extension and reconstruction of portions of the New York City subway system, continued electrification and additional cars for the Penn Central and Long Island Railroads and turbine electric cars for the west-Hudson line.

It is expected that federal aid for these projects will total $400 million. Highway construction projects are still under consideration, but $300 million of these funds have already been used to balance the state budget.

Each specific project financed by these bonds would have to be approved by the Legislature.

Supporters of the proposition point to the 1967 Transportation Bond Issue as the first phase of a major rehabilitation program and want the effort continued through this second proposal. They say that about $2 billion in matching federal funds would be lost to New York if the state is not able to put up its share. It is said that no other funds are available from regular state revenues and that the state's economy will suffer greatly if the transportation program is not carried forward.

Those particularly concerned about the need for mass transportation favor the proposition because it provides more funds for mass transit than for highway construction, a change in emphasis from the 1967 bond issue.

Metropolitan areas throughout the state urgently need mass transportation to move people cheaply, to save land and reduce air pollution.

Those who oppose the proposition believe the state should not borrow any more money. Many feel it has acted too slowly in using the funds authorized in 1967, especially those marked for mass transit.

They say no more bonds should be approved until a long range comprehensive plan for the state's transportation system has been developed. Others believe that the entire bond issue would be used for new and improved methods of transportation and point to the relentless construction of highways as a factor in the state's present economic crisis.

If there is a genuine emergency, the Legislature can appropriate necessary funds from the general revenues.

large. This Amendment would increase the borrowing power of local governments by allowing them to compute their housing debt limit on the basis of full property valuation which is higher than the assessed valuation used now. There would be no assurance that the additional funds would be used for community development purposes.

They claim that taxes are already too high and that the proposal would invite government participation and investment in enormous new projects.

The second amendment permits local governments to finance sewers, pumping stations, treatment plants etc., outside the limits set by the constitution on the amounts they may borrow. Therefore they have more borrowing for other municipal purposes.

Those who support the measure say that the exclusion of sewage treatment facility costs from local debt limits is necessary and must be continued.

Many localities have been ordered to begin construction program by the Department of Environmental Conservation and others have adopted voluntary schedules for complying with state standards for sewage treatment; the complexity and high cost of such projects however, has kept them from being ready for contract within the original ten year period. In addition, some localities are eligible for more federal aid that the state can pre-finance and have been holding back on construction programs because the federal government has been slow to authorize and appropriate adequate funds for this purpose.

Those opposed are against any increase in borrowing by local governments. They believe that local property taxes are already too high and that the tremendous costs of sewage treatment facilities should be paid in other ways, such as sewer rents, others fear that local governments may not be able to meet the high cost of these facilities if federal and state funds are cut off.

Murph and Bernie— two guys who Really Care about People

And they care enough that if you put them to work in City Hall, they'll put City Hall to work for you. They won't pass the buck and they'll try to save your bucks.

They'll get the aldermen hustling for you. They'll clean up once and for all: Urban Renewal, Broadway East, Central Broadway, the sales tax, unfair assessments, unfair zoning laws, sluggish sewers, torn up streets, and your neighbor's dog.

They'll get things going again — uptown, downtown, and all around the town. Bob Murphy and Bernie Singer are your kind of guys for all seasons . . . for all reasons.

They'll Bring You the Kind of Kingston You Really Want.

SEEKS ASYLUM—Polish seaman Wojciech Ostrowski, 37, of Gdynia, Poland (R), relaxes as he sits with Joseph Szyp, president of The Polish American Club of Boston, after leaving his fishing vessel in Boston and requesting asylum. The Polish seaman left the fishing trawler Kreziwa, which was tied up for repairs. Ostrowski had been allowed short leave, but waited until a few hours before the ship was due to leave port before going ashore. He spent the night walking around Boston and slept in a theatre before he turned himself in to Boston police. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Democrats Aim For Fleckenstein

TOWN OF WAWARSING meetings on the subject, with 10 Legislator George Barthel. Incumbent Republican Superintendent of Highways Karl T. Fleckenstein, a controversial figure indeed, appears to be the number one target for the Town of Wawarsing Democrats in this year's elections.

Fleckenstein has survived frequent references to the benefits of making his position appointive, criticism from members of his own party, criticism from members of the other party, and the Republican caucus (at which he was nominated by a 13-11 count after widespread speculation that he had no chance whatever to win the nomination). A man with that kind of track record cannot be counted out of the November balloting.

Fleckenstein is opposed by Democrat William Clark, who was defeated two years ago. In addition to criticism of his work as highway superintendent, the campaign against Fleckenstein has made much of the fact that he has exceeded his budget for this year with the snow season still in the offing.

The town board bailed Fleckenstein out, after five

Long Tenures on the Line in Gardiner

GARDINER penny of his salary, and has gotten the town board to put the zoning question on the November ballot for an informal referendum.

The other long tenure on the line is that of Town Justice Warren McDowell, the Republican renomme. McDowell, an Ulster County Deputy Court Clerk, is the dean of Ulster County town justices, having served 16 years.

McDowell is running on his record. He is opposed by Democratic nominee Alexander Rooney, a member of the town's zoning board of appeals. Rooney has challenged McDowell's salary, and the amount of work he has done recently as justice.

McDowell says he hasn't had too much work to do as justice because arresting officers are bringing most of their cases to Justice Samuel Stokes, something over which McDowell has no control. He also says his salary is paid him in large part for sitting on the town board.

In the other races, Republican incumbent Vivian McCord is opposed by Democrat Edith C. Sheehan for the clerk's spot. Republican incumbent collector Gilbert C. Tice is opposed, as he was last election, by Democrat Robert R. Stiscia. Democratic incumbent Councilman John Bonagura is opposed by Republican nominee Gregory Decker.

Republican incumbent Superintendent of Highways John Grey is opposed by Democrat Newton W. Wright.

Republican incumbent Joseph Beatty (the last incumbent left on the board of assessors since Otis is running for supervisor), is joined on the ticket by Joseph Shaefer and Michael Gillen. They are opposed by Democrats Marcus L. Conklin, James Barile, and George J. Smith, and Conservative nominee Virginia Lawler.

The Conservatives, in addition to Williams and Mrs. Lawler, their nominees, have endorsed Mrs. McCord, Tice, Grey, Beatty, and Gillen of the Republicans, and Democrats Rooney and Bonagura.

New Paltz Democrats Have Noisy Campaign

NEW PALTZ The extraordinary number of seats available on the town board has sparked a noisy campaign in New Paltz, at least on the part of the Democrats.

The Democrats have been out of power in New Paltz for more than 30 years. The town justices will no longer sit on the board after Jan. 1 when New Paltz assumes first class town status by virtue of its more than 10,000 population according to the 1970 census. This opens up two new seats on the town board, and the Democrats, encouraged by the prospect of not having to run against incumbents for the two seats in question, have mounted a vigorous campaign.

The most prominent campaign has been that of Edwin R. Kulseng, Democratic candidate for councilman.

His campaign has centered around the newly formed New Paltz Town Constabulary. He, along with Democratic candidate for supervisor Thomas E. Nyquist, has called for a joint town-village force, and claims to have suffered harassment at the hands of the town force, acting on orders of Republican town officials. The constables, and the Republican town officials, have denied it.

The Republicans have re-nominated incumbents Anthony J. Moriello for supervisor, Theodore Lasher for clerk, David Decker for superintendent of highways, S. Parks Glenn for town justice, and Dominick Sregola for councilman. They nominated newcomers George Mackey and David F. Jewett for the new councilmanic seats.

The Republican incumbents are all running on their records. The Republican newcomers are both pledged to do their best and make the town government a team effort.

The Democrats, who don't have any incumbents, have nominated, in addition to Kulseng and Nyquist, Dorothy Grigsby for town justice, and John H. Jacobson and Carol A. Roper for councilmen.

The Democrats did not nominate anyone to oppose Lasher and Decker, but they did not endorse them. At the last election they more than endorsed Lasher and Decker; they nominated them, along with Moriello.

All the Democrats have cited the discord between the town and village boards as reason to elect them. They say if elected they will help the village and town governments to get along better.

The Conservatives have nominated Republicans Moriello, Lasher, Decker, Glenn, Jewett, and Mackey, and Democrat Kulseng.

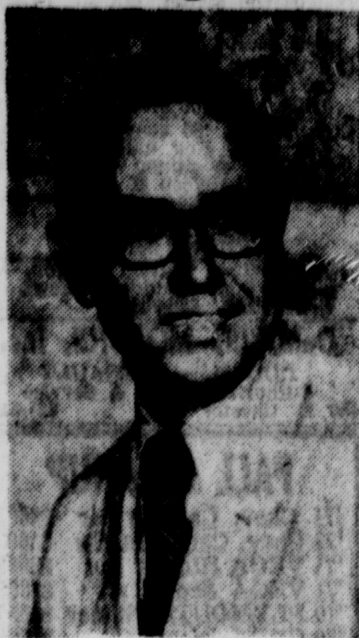

Clyne vs. Hughes for Supreme Court Justice Slot

Ulster County voters will select a Supreme Court Justice for the Third Judicial District from a field of two men — Republican-Conservative Harold J. Hughes and Democrat John J. Clyne, both Albany County residents.

The Third Judicial district includes Ulster, Albany, Sullivan, Greene, Columbia, Rensselaer, and Sullivan counties.

Hughes, a 41-year old resident of Altamont, is a graduate of Christian Brothers Academy, Union College and Albany Law School where he received his LL.B. degree, cum laude in 1954.

He is the recipient of the Saxton Scholarship, Law School trustee's first prize, first scholarship, Moot Court prize and Corporation prize; also, Bender prize, Justinian Society and Law Review.

Harold J. Hughes

He served as a first lieutenant, Judge Advocate General's Corps, United States

Army from 1955-58 and engaged in private practice with Hughes and Hughes, Albany, 1958-62.

He was assistant attorney general, Appeals Court, 1962-64 and from then until now has been assistant and deputy clerk, Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, Third Judicial District.

Politically Hughes served as town justice in Guilderland from 1962-64 and as town councilman from 1964 to the present.

He is active in civic organizations including boys baseball leagues, PTA, Kiwanis, TB Association and American Red Cross.

He was married to Mary Rickard in 1953 and has three children, Charles, 17; Margaret, 14 and Martha, 6.

Clyne, 45, is a native of New Haven, Conn., and graduated

John J. Clyne

Clyne entered law practice in 1953 and has been with the firm of Hinman, Straub, Pigors and Manning since then. He served as assistant county attorney from 1959 to 1963, and was named county attorney in 1964 and still remains in that post.

He is a member of the Capital District Transportation Authority having been appointed by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller when the Authority was created. Clyne is also on the Capital District Regional Planning Commission whose concerns are Albany, Schenectady, Saratoga and Rensselaer counties.

He is chairman of the Albany County Mental Health board and counsel for the Albany

Esopus Supervisor Battle: Freer vs. Liese

ESOPUS and 1969, and it wasn't until 1970 that he was joined by fellow Democrat Richard Sickler.

As Liese sees it, there are "no great issues" in the Esopus race for Supervisor and Town Board. "There will be much talk as usual," he said, "and it will probably center around sewerage and zoning."

Freer was first elected in 1967, winning on the strength of Conservative Party support. He was reelected in 1969, that time with only the support of the Democratic Party.

Liese and Freer have met at the polls before — in 1969. Liese, that year, was the Conservative Party candidate for Supervisor, polling 160 votes. He'll get considerably more support this time around, especially with Republican backing.

A Democrat's life on the Esopus Town Board is a lonely one; and Freer is hoping for some company this time around. He was the only Democrat elected in both 1967 and 1969, and it wasn't until 1970 that he was joined by fellow Democrat Richard Sickler.

"We finally got a sanitary land fill," said Freer, "something we've waited for for 160 years." He adds that sewerage plans have advanced rapidly over the past four years and "all the studies have been made and we're ready to go to the public hearing phase."

Freer also cited work on a Town Master Plan, extension of the Port Ewen Water District and the 9W arterial project as projects he will continue to fight for as long as in office.

"There are a lot of projects I want to finish," said Freer. "There will definitely be at least four new faces in Town Jobst is running for tax collector against Helen Dargie, the Democrat-Conservative candidate.

Aside from Freer, the only other incumbent running for office this year is Town Clerk Emily Card, a Republican. She is opposed by Democrat Elizabeth Griffin.

Canosa Leads the Slate Of Marlborough Democrats

MARLBOROUGH There are Republicans in every elected position in the Town of Marlborough, and the Democrats want to change that. They have brought a former town supervisor out of political retirement to lead the fight.

Michael Canosa, a four-year veteran of the supervisor position and a councilman before that, was defeated in 1969, but he is back leading the Democrats and calling for more "open government."

Canosa has severely criticized the Republicans for conducting town business in private; he says this is neither in the public interest or according to law. He has called it "the club house patronizing approach", and he wants it ended.

He has also said that by conducting the affairs of the town in private, the Republican board is leaving itself open to a very costly taxpayer's suit, and Canosa is not one for spending money lightly.

Canosa is joined on the Democratic ticket by town justice candidates Richard P. Beruk and Michael A. Pasquale.

The Republicans apparently don't think their record is so bad because they are running on it. Republican incumbent supervisor Ralph LoFaro will oppose Canosa, and incumbent Town Justices M. Carlo Mower and Patrick Mataraza will oppose Beruk and Pasquale.

The Republicans cite the establishment of the Narcotic Guidance Council, the extension of the light districts, the tighter dump procedures, the revised trailer ordinance, and the steady tax rate as evidence of success of their administration.

In other races, Republican incumbent James H. Woodward was renominated for clerk, opposed by Democrat Norma R. Appler, whom he defeated last election. Republican incumbent Superintendent of Highways Albert Trautman opposed by Democrat Joseph Dirago Jr.

Republican Assessor Patsy J. Mannese (four year term) is running unopposed. In the two year assessor race, Republican Charles J. Weed, Democrat Peter V. Conte, and Conservative Joseph LoFaro are all running.

The Conservatives have endorsed both LoFaros, Woodward, Trautman, Mataraza, and Mower.

Dog is man's best friend — principally because the pooch has too much sense to get up at three ack emma to let him out at night.

There's one thing to be said for old men chasing young girls: It helps keep their weight down.

Some people marry with the vow, "Until debt do us part."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The first man to complete a solo circumnavigation of the world was Capt. Joshua Slocum, who sailed from Boston, Mass., April 24, 1895. The World Almanac says, Slocum, a nonswimmer, completed the three-year, 46,000-mile voyage in a nine-ton sloop on July 3, 1898.

SHY GIRL: (Q) I have just started going with a girl who is exceptionally shy. Could you please give me some advice on how to break her of it?—Devoted in South Dakota

(A) Do not "break" her of her shyness. Lead her out of it. First, help her not to be shy with you. Be gentle. Understanding. Subtly build up her confidence by complimenting her on her good points.

Second, help her be less shy with others. In a group conversation, purposely ask her questions about something she is familiar and at ease with.

As she becomes more confident and sees that her qualities and abilities are appreciated and welcomed, she will gradually emerge from her timidity.

SLOPPY? (Q) I am a very sloppy girl. I drop food on the dinner table. I get ink all over me. I am getting ink on me right now writing this. My clothes get very dirty very fast. I try to improve my habits please help me.—11 Years Old in Massachusetts.

(A) Your letter is quite neat. There are no ink splashes on it. Very few 11-year-old girls write such neat letters. The truth is that the average 11-year-old girl is likely to be a little messy. But she is also beginning to wake up to the fact that she doesn't want to be messy always.

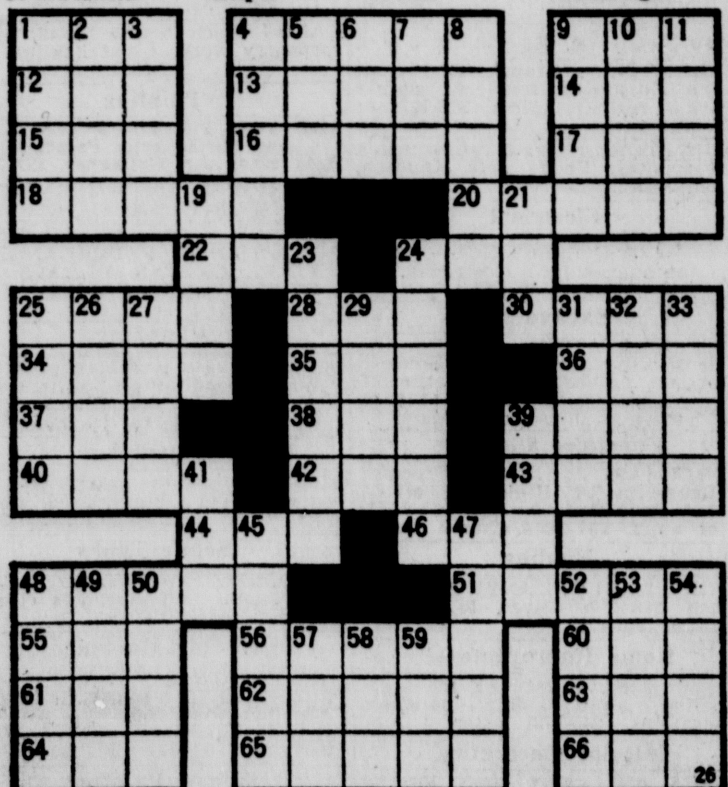

You are waking up to this urge to be neat and attractive and correct. You are ready to go to work on yourself. I am sending you the name of a good etiquette book that will tell you how to do many things RIGHT—from how to eat olives to how to introduce people to each other.

Study the book. Also, practice moving your hands and feet and arms and legs more slowly. Try talking in quieter voice. Try to keep your hair and face as neat and clean as you can. Smile and be friendly to people, especially cute boys your age and a little older.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

Air Force Tours May Be Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — With some of the measures which President Nixon's troop withdrawal announcement only weeks away, the Air Force has told personnel some Vietnam tours may be cut short and men awaiting orders for Southeast Asia may receive different assignments.

An Air Force message to all commands advises that future operational programming in Southeast Asia may result in considerable turbulence in the assignment of personnel to and within that area.

"It cannot be predicted at this time just how much our normal assignment policies and procedures will be affected," the message said. "However, it is to our advantage to prepare Air Force personnel for any contingency by alerting them to

Protestors And Eviction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-war protesters, their first day of demonstrations virtually washed out by rain, plan to march on the White House today to serve President Nixon with an eviction notice. Rennie Davis, a leader in the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice, sponsor of the protest, told about 400 youths Monday night permits for the march had been denied.

The crowd roared its approval when asked if they should march anyway and Davis declared: "We should figure on massive civil disobedience at the White House."

Meanwhile, in Killeen, Tex., a Veterans Day march Monday to protest the Indochina war ended when police arrested 112 servicemen, their wives and other supporters near Ft. Hood. Most of the demonstrators were charged with parading without a permit.

In an Oct. 13 news conference, Nixon said that by the time of his visit to Moscow in May "we trust that we will have accomplished that goal (of ending U.S. involvement in Vietnam), or at least have made significant progress toward accomplishing that goal."

U.S. troop strength in Vietnam now stands at about 202,000, of which about 35,000 are Air Force personnel.

In its message, the Air Force said volunteers for Thailand and Vietnam "may be diverted at the last moment," or reassigned even after arriving at their new posts; "overseas re-assignments may be cancelled at the last moment"; and "there may be instances where personnel will not serve the full RVN (Republic of Vietnam) or Thailand tour for which selected."

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, Viet Cong units overran an allied outpost in Kiem Phong Province 60 miles west of Saigon today. They killed four government militiamen and wounded 11 others and other Communist forces renewed the shelling of the Cambodian rubber plantation town of Krek, 85 miles northwest of Saigon after a four-day lull.

Five 122mm rockets crashed into the city, the scene of heavy fighting last week, but no casualties were reported.

Allied fighter bombers and helicopters strafed and bombed areas southwest and southeast of Krek inside South Vietnam and blew up large areas of what the pilots described as Communist fortifications.

The typhoon, which the South Vietnamese government said was the worst in 27 years, killed at least 70 persons, including three Americans, at the base which was all but destroyed.

Debate on the bill starts today. This amendment, unlike others, has been included in the aid bill by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Therefore, the burden will be on President Nixon's backers to remove or delete it.

The antiwar forces on the Foreign Relations panel have included a number of other amendments, including a $250 million ceiling on U.S. activities in Cambodia similar to the $350 million limit on American activities in Laos voted in the military procurement bill last month.

Committee members say they are confident the Senate will uphold the dual antiwar amendment. Approval of the fund cut-off provision by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho, would make it the first time the Sen-

Koenig: Meeting Challenges

MAYOR KOENIG

KINGSTON Mayor Francis R. Koenig is running for reelection on what he terms his "record of meeting the challenges that confront our city."

The main problem as Koenig saw it when he ran for the first time in 1969 was urban renewal redevelopment. Koenig now reports that during his 21 months in office, a total of $11 million in urban renewal reconstruction both uptown and downtown has been carried out. "We've met the challenge," Koenig says, "now we must finish the job."

Koenig cites his experience of almost ten years in government as being one of the prime causes of why his administration has been able to "identify the problems, work on the problems and solve the problems." Koenig was secretary to former Mayor Edwin F. Radel for two years, served four years as an alderman from the old Ninth Ward, two years as alderman-at-large and almost two years as mayor. "I can point out emphatically that this overall experience proves most beneficial to me as mayor — as many times as your mayor I have reached back to those years of experience in arriving at important decisions," Koenig told the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce last week.

The mayor also noted progress made in the fight against narcotics through the formation of the Kingston Narcotics Guidance Council. "They've been doing a fine job," the mayor said, "and we will continue to give them the necessary support so they in turn can continue their work."

Mass transportation has been another problem faced by his administration, Koenig said. Surveys are now being completed by the State Department of Transportation to determine the direction of the city's mass transportation program.

Koenig also pointed to code enforcement as another program sponsored by his administration. "It has been very productive and well-received by residents in the areas," Koenig said. "We feel it is the program of the future. We're getting away from emolition and into rehabilitation."

Koenig also noted that during his administration recruiting and staffing of the police department has been an important program. The force is now at 68, four below the 1969 authorization of 72. Plans are being made for a full force next year.

Koenig sees the solving of the city's sewage problems and the completion of urban renewal the key issues facing the next mayor. He said he is now conferring with officials from the Department of Housing and Urban Development on a survey of the city's sewage system.

Expanding the tax base is another problem as Koenig sees it. "The city is providing numerous services such as fire and police protection and public works service, to tax-exempt organizations, such as state and county-owned buildings," Koenig said. "We must expand our tax base to stabilize the load for everyone."

Koenig also called for a full-time professional planner in his administration, "someone who has the knowledge and understanding of the problems of a city our size." The planner would also be responsible for investigating federal and state programs to the benefit of the city.

Koenig, running again on the Democratic-Liberal ticket, is 37 years old and a life-long resident of Kingston. He lives at 51 Fairview Avenue with his wife, the former Maralyn Brophy and their two sons.

Murphy: Drugs, Urban Renewal

KINGSTON Robert F. Murphy retired as Kingston's police chief three and a half years ago and is now seeking to become the city's chief executive officer.

Murphy is running for mayor on the Republican-Conservative ticket. He was unanimously nominated by both parties in June.

The candidate considers urban renewal redevelopment a prime issue and has attacked his opponent for failing to do so. Murphy has also taken positions in the areas of narcotics and the Central Broadway business area along with sewage and the construction of apartments complexes in the city.

The candidate has said that enforcement and education are the keys to solving the narcotics problem in Kingston. He gives enforcement priority over education but stresses the latter.

Murphy had this to say on narcotics: "An accredited expert in the narcotics field recently told the Common Council that by conservative estimates there are between 200 and 250 heroin addicts in the city who steal a substantial amount of goods and money to feed and support their habits. Narcotics is one of the biggest problems facing us today. It affects our youth who will be the business and civic leaders of tomorrow."

"The present administration has done little in this field. But in the Republican - controlled County Legislature, however, has attempted to come to grips with this problem by establishing the County Drug Commission which has already set up a methadone clinic in the city to help meet the problem squarely. If elected mayor, I will meet this problem headon and make every effort to eliminate this cancer among our youth by asking the Common Council for the necessary funds to fight it."

Murphy calls for the redevelopment of Broadway East before any action is taken on Broadway West which he says "eventually has to go." Murphy however, emphasized that suitable homes be found in Kingston for anyone relocated by any new urban renewal projects.

As far as unemployment goes, Murphy says he's in favor of an industrial commission to attract new industry to the city. "We have to do anything we can to provide jobs for our residents," he said.

Murphy also indicated that he is in favor of lengthening the term of mayor, now set at two years. He says "grave consideration" should be given to extending the term to three or four years but any such action should be approved by the voters via referendum.

Murphy is 60 years old, the son of the late Charles J. and Esther Hanley Murphy. His father was a Kingston policeman from 1913 to 1931.

The GOP candidate was appointed a patrolman on March 1, 1936. He served as a bomber crewman in World War II, winning the Distinguished Flying Cross with Oak Leaf Clusters. Murphy began to advance through the police ranks upon his return from the war. In 1946, he was appointed a sergeant on the city police force and a lieutenant in 1955. He was named deputy chief in 1957 and chief in 1959. Murphy scored 95.3 on the chief's test that year, believed to be a record.

He is married to the former Evelyn Roe and is the father of three sons. He lives at 64 Harding Avenue.

Gallo, Singer - Active Candidates

23—THE DAILY FREEMAN, OCTOBER 26, 1971

T. ROBERT GALLO

BERNARD SINGER

This year's election for alderman-at-large pits incumbent T. Robert Gallo, the Democrat-Liberal, against Bernard Singer, the Conservative-Republican.

Gallo is completing his eighth year of city government. He was first elected in 1963 as alderman of the old Ninth Ward. He was reelected alderman in 1965 and elected alderman-at-large in 1967, defeating the late Louis J. Smith by about 800 votes. In 1969 Gallo won reelection as alderman-at-large by a 3,900-vote plurality over Republican Burton C. Davis and Conservative Worthington D. Rider. Gallo operates the Carriage House Florist Shop at Albany Avenue and Foxhall Avenue and is a member of the Kingston Lions Club.

Singer is no stranger to local politics, being one of the founders of the local branch of the Conservative Party. He is now City Chairman of that party.

Singer was active in the Economy Party in the late 1950's and was its candidate for alderman-at-large in 1959. Singer also served on the Kingston Schools Consolidated Board of Education.

In 1969 Singer ran for mayor on the Conservative ticket, finishing third in a three-way race with some 1,200 votes. He operates a tire distribution business on Albany Avenue in the Town of Ulster.

The alderman-at-large is one of the key figures in city government; the only man who serves in both branches, executive and legislative.

He is, by definition, the assistant mayor in the legislative branch, filling in for the mayor when he is absent or out of town and taking over for the mayor when he is unable to serve either from illness or in the event of death.

His prime duties, however, are in the legislative branch where he is the president of the Common Council, its presiding officer, either "Mr. President" or "Mr. Chairman."

The alderman-at-large runs with the mayor, at-large, or city-wide, but is elected separately.

As president of the Common Council he appoints all committees, the only restriction being that the majority party chairs all committees and holds a majority membership on each.

From time to time the alderman-at-large names special committees to the Common Council. The Air Pollution Committee of the Council is an example, named five years ago. The Reapportionment Committee is a special committee to the Council this year as is the Charter Revision Committee and the committee to work on Central Broadway problems.

The Alderman-at-large sets the tenure of Council meetings, attempting to strike a balance between open and free discussion while maintaining order. He rules on parliamentary procedure such as "points of order" during debate.

He also rules on length of recesses; when the alderman-at-large calls the Council back into session after a recess, the Council comes back into session. He also rules on absenteeism, determining whether a member of the Council who is not in his chair at the call of the meeting is "absent" or "excused."

The alderman-at-large is often the connecting link between the executive and the legislative branch of government. On the executive side, he fills in for the mayor, as needed, at board meetings and various public functions.

Reapportionment Top Issue In Common Council Contests

Reapportionment of the city looms large as 30 candidates vie for 13 aldermanic positions in the Common Council on Nov. 2.

Federal law requires that political entities be reapportioned on the basis of population following a federal census. The city was reapportioned in 1968 at which time the Democrats enjoyed an 8-5 majority in the Council. Elections that year raised the Democrats majority to an all-time record of 12-1. The Republicans cut that to 9-4 in the 1969 elections and are gunning for at least a majority of 7-6 in this year's elections.

The Democrats would appear to have the edge with incumbents running in seven of the 13th wards. They include John E. Finch in the Fifth, Donald E. Quick in the Sixth, Michael S. Perry in the Seventh, Emilio Primo Jr. in the Eighth, Clifford G. Sinsaugh in the 10th, Edward M. Norton in the 11th and Peter J. Mancuso in the 12th. Quick is the only man assured of reelection. He's running unopposed.

Two Democrats are not seeking reelection this year, John Heitzman in the First Ward and Mrs. Florence S. Ludlow in the Fourth Ward. Heitzman is running for county legislator and Mrs. Ludlow is retiring from office. The outcome of the races in their wards could determine the majority in the Council. Bert A. Ellis is running on the Republican-Conservative ticket in the First Ward and John F. Coffey is running on the Democrat-Liberal ticket. Francis J. McCardle is running on the Republican-Conservative ticket in the Fourth Ward and Clarence Stoutenburg is running on the Democrat-Liberal line.

The aldermen are running for two-year terms at an annual salary of $2,150. The majority and minority leaders are paid an additional $350 per year.

City Aldermanic Candidates

FIRST WARD

John F. Coffey

John F. Coffey is making his second run for alderman but this time from the First Ward, not the old 12th. Coffey ran against John Machione in the old 12th Ward in 1965, losing by about 200 votes.

This time he's running in the new First Ward which before reapportionment formed half of the old 12th. Coffey is running on the Democratic-Liberal ticket.

The candidate is 57 years old, a native of Kingston and a graduate of its schools. He also graduated from St. Anne's Academy in New York City.

Coffey lives at 23 Coffey Place (he was born at 27 Coffey Place) with his wife the former Emily I. Smith. They are the parents of three children.

Coffey, a plumber, learned his trade while working with his father and brothers in the Edward D. Coffey and Sons Plumbing Business. He took over the business in 1949.

Coffey is a member of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society and the Catholic War Veterans. He served in the Pacific Theater during World War II.

Burt A. Ellis

Burt A. Ellis, 37, is making his first run for office, as the Republican-Conservative candidate for alderman in the First Ward.

Ellis, one of the youngest candidates for alderman, formed a campaign team of young residents of the ward who have been with him since before his nomination in June. Ellis has a long record of involvement with youth, serving for 12 years in Boy Scouting and as chairman of Troop and Post 12 since 1968. He took on the additional duties of Cubmaster of Pack 12 this year and has been a director of the Troop 12 Indians Drum and Bugle Corps since 1967.

Ellis was born in Monticello, lived in Port Ewen for 21 years and has lived in Kingston for the past 5 years. He is a veteran of Navy service, 1952-56 and a member of American Legion Post 1298 in Esopus. He is also a member of the Zoological Society of Kingston and of the United Commercial Travelers.

The candidate is president of Utility Platers Inc. on Washington Avenue.

A resident of 23 Janet Street, Machione has been the Republican leader in the Common Council since 1963 when he was majority leader. In 1965, the Democrats won the Council, 7-6, upped that margin to 8-5 in 1967 and under reapportionment, increased their margin to a record 12-1. Machione was the lone Republican.

An employee of IBM, Kingston, Machione once operated a beauty shop.

He is a former chairman of the Council's Laws and Rules Committee and now serves on the Finance, Ways and Means Committee of the Council, the Election Committee, the Urban Renewal Committee, the Charter Revision Committee, and as minority leader, is a member of a special Council Committee on Central Broadway.

Joseph R. McGrane

Joseph R. McGrane is the Democratic-Liberal candidate for alderman in the Second Ward. He lives at 52 Lafayette Avenue with his wife, the former Katherine Roach and their four children, Kathleen, 13, Michael, 8, and Mary and Joseph, 11-year old twins.

For McGrane, 44, this is his first attempt at political office. He is a native of Kingston and a graduate of School No. 6 and Kingston High School. He served in the Navy during World War II in the Pacific Theater for two years. His father, the late Thomas McGrane, was a member of the Kingston Police force for more than 40 years.

McGrane is a communicant of St. Joseph's Church and a member of that church's Parents' Association. He is also a member of the Kingston Bowling Association.

The candidate has been employed by the Sunshine Biscuit Company as a salesman for the past 15 years.

Legislature Races Dominate Ulster County Scene

25—THE DAILY FREEMAN, OCTOBER 26, 1971

KINGSTON large candidates out of a field of 17. Voters of Ulster County will choose 33 candidates to County voters will choose represent them on the Ulster anywhere from one to five County Legislature for the next legislative candidates depending upon how many men represent their particular district. For instance District 1, (Woodstock) city will choose them in varying numbers however with city has one representative on the residents selecting eight at County Board while District 2, and Town of Kingston) has five. Presently the Legislature operates with a 22-11 Republican majority. In order to retain its position, the GOP would need to keep 22 members on the board for that number constitutes a two-thirds majority needed for the passage of bond issues. Seventeen votes are considered a majority. Both the Republicans and the Democrats will lose one of their incumbents this election for Andrew Gilday (D-City) and Lawrence Craft (R-Dist. 10) do not seek reelection. On the city ballot for the legislature, the Republicans are running eight men, the Democrats are running eight candidates and the Conservatives are running one man, and are endorsing five Republicans and two Democrats. The Liberal Party is endorsing five Democrats and two Republicans.

Because of the large number of candidates to be selected, the Board of Elections points out that no one particular person is running specifically against any one particular candidate. For instance, in the city, voters may choose any eight candidates, out of the field of 17 regardless of where a candidate's name is on the ballot or which name it is opposite.

The same practice applies when voting in the county. For instance in Dist. 7 (Esopus-Rosendale) there are six candidates running for three posts. Voters are asked to choose any three regardless of the fact that each name will be placed opposite another particular candidate on the ballot.

ATTENTION: Town of Rosendale Voters FROM: The Defelicio Administration

The Town of Rosendale Democratic Committee started its campaign on local radio station talk shows with poison innuendos and statements. They then topped it off by calling a local radio station, questioning the honesty of certain town officials and constables. This talk show was followed by a political advertisement to which we offer the following rebuttals to these falsehoods.

1. SCHOOL TAXES:

It is obvious that the Democratic Committee does not understand equalization rates or assessments. If they did they would have referred to the letter dated March 1, 1971, from the State Board of Equalization and Assessment stating that you have to compare the effect of the rate drop in your municipality to that of the County average. This also states that the latest county average is 13.98. The ideal position to be in is to be BELOW the county average and Rosendale finds itself in the favorable position of having the rate of 12.47. Small wonder that these Democrats fail to mention the fact that Rosendale has the third lowest general Town Tax rate in Ulster County and the second lowest Highway Tax Rate in the County. The main reason for these low rates is because Rosendale has one of the lowest bonded indebtedness in the State of New York.

Is this financial irresponsibility?

2. THE WASTE OF OUR TAX DOLLARS THROUGH THE HIRING OF IRRESPONSIBLE PERSONNEL:

NOT TRUE

It appears that the Democratic Committee is basing their allegations on information supplied by a former constable who was discharged for cause. What a sad commentary it is that a major political party can find no real issue to contest, but instead finds it necessary to create what they believe to be an attention getter in the hopes that the people of our community will be fooled. The funny part of the whole thing is that if they really believed what they say about our constabulary, then they would have to disavow support for their very own candidate for re-election to the post of Town Justice. Their candidate voted (unanimously with the other members of the Town Board) to appoint the constables now serving our town. But you will note that they have carefully avoided any reference at all to him. Was this motivated by design or stupidity?

The Democrat's article goes on to say "there are rumors that at a private meeting these men were asked to resign." This never happened and we challenge them to name the time, place and individuals involved in this alleged and fictitious meeting. These people have long been known for their wily ways and for the deliberate use of such phrases as "there are rumors." What they fail to say is that the constables in the employ of the town all hold pistol permits requiring prior clearance by the FBI and Ulster County Sheriff's Department. We strongly believe that all candidates for political office should look before they leap and accept the responsibility for the statements they make. Government should not be entrusted to persons lacking the ability to make sound judgments based upon true facts. Those persons responsible for the vile attack upon our dedicated constables are not worthy of your votes.

3. THE LOSS OF MUCH NEEDED REVENUE THROUGH THE ENACTMENT OF A BAD ZONING LAW:

BALONEY

The Democrats say that "the entire Town of Rosendale is zoned R-1" NOT SO !!! The Town is zoned for five districts: R-1, R-2, B-1, A and F. One may correctly conclude that these people haven't even read the ordinance! The Democrats say "if you know the 'right' people and can afford it, any restriction can be changed." The Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Rosendale is administered by the Building Inspector. A five man Board of Appeals renders rulings on contested decisions of the Inspector. If this Democratic Committee has any information concerning payoffs why don't they take it to the District Attorney, instead of conducting a smear campaign.

Aldermanic Hopefuls

MRS. EDNA SPERLING

Mrs. Edna Sperling is the Conservative Party candidate for alderman in the 13th Ward. Mrs. Sperling got on the ballot by defeating Titus B. Sims in a primary on Sept. 14 by a 7-5 vote. Sims is the incumbent alderman and is running on the Republican slate.

Mrs. Sperling, 52, was born in Krumville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elson Oakley Sr. She has been a resident of Kingston for the past 29 years and is married to Sam Sperling.

Mrs. Sperling is a real estate broker and a homemaker, living at 170 Henry Street. She is a graduate of Kingston High School and Delhi Technical School. She attends the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Krumville and the Reformed Church of Kingston.

Mrs. Sperling is a charter member of the first Conservative Club in Kingston, formed in 1962.

Titus B. Sims

Titus B. (Bernie) Sims is seeking his second term in office as 13th Ward alderman, running, this year, on the Republican ticket.

Sims was elected in 1969 on the Republican-Conservative ticket but lost a Conservative primary in September to Mrs. Edna Sperling of Henry Street who will be that party's candidate for alderman.

Sims lives at 72 Pine Grove Avenue with his wife Mary and their son, Thomas. He ran for alderman in 1968 on the Republican ticket but was defeated by former Alderman James M. Madden.

Sims is a veteran of 20 years in service in the Coast Guard where he retired with the rank of chief petty officer. He now works at IBM as an engineer.

As a member of the Common Council, Sims serves on the Railroad and Bus Committee, the Laws and Rules Committee, the Charter Revision Committee, the City Hall Committee and a special Council committee on Central Broadway.

William K. Bodenweber

William (Bill) K. Bodenweber is returning to the political arena after an absence of almost 15 years. Bodenweber is the Democratic-Liberal candidate for alderman in the 13th Ward, an area he represented as alderman of the old Ninth Ward in 1957.

Bodenweber currently serves the city as a commissioner on the Board of Public Works. He was appointed by former Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan in 1966 and reappointed by Mayor Francis R. Koenig last year to a term that expires in 1974.

Bodenweber, who lives at 49 West O'Reilly Street, operates the O'Reilly Street Laundromat. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Kingston Lions Club and the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church. He is a veteran of Army service in World War II. His son, William, is an officer in the Navy.

One Contest Is Scheduled In Ulster Town

TOWN OF ULSTER

Republicans are virtually assured of electing at least five of their six candidates into office this November in the Town of Ulster.

In only one race — for Town Councilman — do they have any opposition.

In that race, Anthony Cicoria, the Republican, will be challenged by William Mullany, a Democrat.

The Democrats this year selected only one candidate — but purposefully so. They feel that they're best bet for a return to some semblance of the two-party systems to present their "very best" candidate to the voters. Mullany, they say, is that man.

In past years, the Democrats have occasionally nominated a full slate of candidates, only to be bowled over by the Republicans on election day.

The Town of Ulster's GOP, however, is planning on the same campaign finale this year as in past years: a total victory.

Also running for office in Ulster this year — all Republican and all uncontested — are Carmine Sabino for Supervisor, Robert Morehouse for Town Clerk, Harold Atkins for tax collector, Edgar P. Elliott for superintendent of highways and Sherwood E. Davis for Town Justice.

Campaign Promises Fill Woodstock Air

33—THE DAILY FREEMAN, OCTOBER 26, 1971

WOODSTOCK
There are more campaign promises being made in Woodstock this year than in any previous art colony election. And the reason for this turn of events is simple: more candidates are running with the addition of two newly formed parties to the ballot.

The Republican Party, which has held majority control of the Town Board over the years is sticking with incumbent office holders with the exception of two seats. The GOP slate of candidates includes William R. West, seeking reelection for a third term as County Legislator of District No. 12 (encompassing the whole of Woodstock Township); Verner L. May, IBM employee and a newcomer to politics by virtue of his defeat of incumbent Milton Houst in the recent caucus for Supervisor; Marjorie Harder, Town Clerk since the early 1950's and again running for that post; Arthur R. Van Valkenburgh, nominated again to retain his present Superintendent of Highways position;

Rudolf C. Baumgarten, long-time Town Justice given the nod to make another run for four years; Walter S. Van Wagenen, recently appointed Town Justice to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of James Myers and now a candidate to continue in that seat for two more years; and Wayne Underhill Jr., youthful businessman and new to politics, making a bid for Town Councilman to replace incumbent Arthur MacDaniel, who chose not to be a candidate for reelection.

The Conservative party is backing all of the Republican candidates in Woodstock with the single exception of Van Wagenen, which means that West, May, Harder, Van Valkenburgh, Baumgarten and Underhill will appear on two lines on the November ballot.

The Democratic Party, which has been strong enough in recent years to upset a Republican candidate on occasion, will field a full slate of candidates this year, some long active in local politics; others new to the arena. William Kronenberg, who won election last time out as Woodstock assessor, is the Democratic candidate for County Legislator.

Others on the Democratic slate include: John O. Bonilla, IBM employee and one-time Democratic Town Chairman, for Supervisor; Bernadine Collier for Town Clerk; contractor Milton Axel, challenging for the Superintendent of Highways post; attorney Joshua N. Koplovitz, Town Justice candidate for the full, four-year term; Kevin M. Sweeney, local businessman and long-time resident, for Town Justice to fill the two-year vacancy slot; and John W. Gardner, a recording industry executive, for Town Councilman.

The newly formed Woodstock Independent Party, whose petitions were challenged as invalid but which will stay on the ballot according to a ruling of the Ulster County Election Commission, held its own caucus; came up with a slate of newcomers making their political debuts. The WIPs will be represented on the ballot by Robert Perillat for County Legislator; folksinger and gallery owner Billy Faier for Supervisor; JoAnn Murdock for Town Clerk; and carpenter and sign maker David M. Boyle for Superintendent of Highways.

Running all alone — under an open end up horse shoe emblem — as the candidate of the Dark Horse Party for the full, four-year Town Justice term will be Samuel C. Shirah, another newcomer and a local resident for the past three years.

Demos Want In Roads In Town of Plattekill

PLATTEKILL
The Plattekill Republicans have nominated a full slate of incumbents, with the exception of superintendent of highways, for this year's elections. The Democrats would like to make some in roads.

One of the Democrats trying to make an inroad will be the first woman ever to run for a seat on the town board in Plattekill history.

Esther Coppola is the distaff candidate. She is a lifelong Plattekill resident. She says she has attended town board meetings regularly for the past three years, and is familiar with the trends and problems in the township.

She is particularly interested in the problems of zoning and planning and has praised the 701 master plan study of the town, though she is calling for stopgap measures until the plan can be put into effect.

She says she is interested in helping the town to grow within its limitations and with improvement for all. Has the consciousness of Plattekill been sufficiently raised to accept a woman councilman? Has Women's Lib come to Plattekill? The answers may be forthcoming Nov. 2.

Mrs. Coppola is joined on the ticket by Alvin "Bucky" Turk, the former advertising executive turned ranch owner. Turk has been associated with the Rocking Horse Ranch since 1958; he is president of the Tri-State Ranch Association, and has been active in civic and charitable organizations.

Mrs. Rafaela Lopez is the Democratic nominee for tax collector, and she says, "The youth of Plattekill need all the help we can give them." She does not say how she can make tax collecting more youth oriented.

Paul A. Veiga is their nominee for town justice. He is known for his youth work.

The Democrats have also renominated their only incumbent, Nathaniel T. Dawes for superintendent of highways.

Marge Taliferro is their nominee for clerk.

The Republicans have nominated Albert Molson to oppose incumbent Dawes in the race for superintendent.

They have countered the rest of the Democratic slate with incumbents. George Sisti Jr. was renominated for supervisor. Edith Wager for clerk, Adelaide Martino for collector, Salvatore Dolcemasciola for councilman, and Frank Berean for justice.

The Republican incumbents are running on their records. Mrs. Wager says she finds the clerk's job challenging and says the law are always changing. She is seeking her sixth term as clerk.

Mrs. Martino is seeking her fifth term as collector. She says her reason for seeking another term is, "I enjoy the job." That's a good reason to run.

Sheriff Martin Unopposed

Sheriff William B. Martin

KINGSTON Sheriff William B. Martin, seeking a third term as sheriff of Ulster County, has the unique distinction of not only being unopposed in his bid but he has the endorsement of the four major political parties.

Nominated in a Republican County convention June 8, Martin was a Democratic candidate when he first sought election in 1965 and took office Jan. 1, 1966.

Seeking office again in 1968, the sheriff won easily over his GOP opponent and was the biggest vote getter of any of the candidates of any party in the City of Kingston. He won handsomely in the county too with Liberal and Conservative votes cast as well.

Sheriff Martin has had many successful years of experience as a public servant and law enforcement officer.

During his terms of office as sheriff, he introduced the use of the police blotter and monthly reports where there were none before. He initiated the use of bloodhounds to locate missing persons and created a navigation patrol for use on the Hudson River.

He introduced a work release program for prisoners, allowing certain ones to leave the jail daily to work in the community. He has also had inmates perform services for the county and recently organized the first municipal police training school in the Mid-Hudson Valley here in Kingston.

A native of Kingston, Sheriff Martin is a graduate of Kingston High School, Moran

Business School, New York State Police School, and New York State Traffic School.

A former sergeant with the New York State Police, he has served as trustee of Excelsior Hose Company and maintains membership in the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Schovel Versus McCaig In Saugerties:

43—THE DAILY FREEMAN, OCTOBER 26, 1971

DONALD R. McCAIG

A. MICHAEL SCHOVEL

SAUGERTIES It was a major breakthrough for the Saugerties Democratic Party when their candidate, A. Michael Schovel, was elected in 1967, and re-elected in 1969. Now that they have their foot in the door, they'd like to see a few "friendly" faces join Schovel on the Saugerties Town Board.

Trying to block Schovel's reelection to a third consecutive term as Supervisor is Donald R. McCaig, the chairman of the Saugerties Republican Party when Schovel disposed of Horace F. Emerick, the GOP candidate in 1969.

Schovel created the tax issue when he announced recently that the town, under his administration, will benefit from an 84 cent tax reduction.

McCaig responded almost immediately, calling the tax cut, "too little and too late."

He said town residents should be getting a much larger tax reduction and promised to work for a "meaningful reduction of the tax rate" if elected.

Maurice Hinchey Jr., chairman of the Democratic Party in Saugerties, joined the foray a short time later, stating that every major plank in the GOP platform this year has already been either proposed or implemented by Saugerties Democrats. Hinchey also questioned the efficiency of the Highway Superintendent and called for a change in that office.

Charles E. Bach Jr. is the incumbent Highway Superintendent, and he has the backing of both the Republican and Conservative Parties. The Democrats have named Anthony Rizzo as their challenger.

If the Democrats do hope to make any inroads into the Republican power structure on the Town Board, they'll have to depend upon S. Morrow Decker and John P. Smith, candidates for the two seats on the Town Board that expire this year.

Incumbent Republican Bernard M. Rinaldi and Henry Breitenbach, also a Republican, are seen as formidable opponents. Both have the backing of the Conservative Party.

David Menzies, nominated by the Commonwealth Party, is also a candidate for Town Councilman.

In the other two town "races", incumbent Town Clerk Marion E. Newkirk and incumbent Town Justice Michael E. Catalinotto are both running unopposed for re-election.

Republicans After Anella in Town of Lloyd

TOWN OF LLOYD The Republicans are out to knock off Democratic incumbent Superintendent of Highways Peter Anella in this November's Town of Lloyd elections.

Anella has been criticized at recent board meetings for the condition of the township's roads, and has complained about the size of his budget.

The Republican candidate opposing Anella is Joseph L. Gruner. Gruner is a construction foreman who has been in the business for 30 years.

Gruner has pledged to be a full-time superintendent, to personally schedule and supervise road crews, and to maintain all town equipment in first class condition. He has stressed planning and scheduling in his campaign, especially in the drainage area.

In other races, those for the board positions, the Democrats in this town with a strong two party tradition will be seeking to regain the control wrested from them by the Republicans in the last elections, and in something of an upset.

Republican incumbent

Supervisor Louis Foscaldi is only Republican backing, but opposed by Democrat Charles Morano. Morano is a former president of the Highland Chamber of Commerce and has eight years experience as an assessor.

Democratic incumbent Councilman Albert Lester is opposed by Republican Edward J. Gona. Lester has had 12 years experience on the board, eight as a justice and the last four as a councilman. He was also the chairman of the town zoning board of appeals. Gona is stressing electing a Republican team to solve the town's problems.

The Democrats have nominated James Canino to run against Republican incumbent Town Justice Linn Baker. Canino is stressing the role of the justice as he sits on the board rather than in judgement. Baker has been a town justice eight years, and has stressed his role as judge rather than a legislative board member. He is a retired sergeant of the New York State Police, and had both Republican and Democratic backing when he first won in 1963. He ran again in 1967 with

Democrat, Highland Republican Chairman Eugene Noe said it was a tradition for both parties to back a qualified and experienced clerk, and Gaffney

There is no doubt who will be elected clerk. Vincent J. Gaffney, a Democrat has been renominated by both the Democrats and Republicans. He is seeking his eighth term in office. In explaining why the Republicans would nominate a Democrat, Highland Republican Chairman Eugene Noe said it was a tradition for both parties to back a qualified and experienced clerk, and Gaffney was it. He said the Democrats extended the same courtesy to Republican Lorin Callahan when he was in office.
